RAF Flyers In Bomb Attack Aimed at Hitler

Other Of The Vital Centers Of Nazis Hit By Explosives

LONDON, Nov. 9—(AP)—British bombs exploded last night on the Munich beer hall where Adolf Hitler exhorted his Nazi old guard, in far-away Northern Italy and upon many another vital center of the axis war effort, qualified sources announced today.

A whole series of explosives—"A Stick"—was declared by the British Press Association to have started a big fire in the Munich cellar, where all the top command of the Nazi revolution had assembled with Hitler to hear him declare that Germany would never quit without victory.

The press association punctiliously described that hit as an inadvertance; said the stick had overshot its mark. The Air Ministry's official communique was even more restrained. It announced: "A strong force of RAF bombers attacked railway stations and goods (freight) yards in the city of Munich."

Despite this official reserve, the press and public exulted that the Royal Air Force had kept Hitler's speech off a scheduled broadcast; had carried its bombs 600 miles to the city that is the very home and birthplace of Naziism.

The Air Ministry itself made the point that the RAF arrived over Munich before 9 p. m. and dropped bombs for more than hour; other sources said they swept in 14 minutes before the scheduled beginning of Hitler..'s speech and stayed at work for more than hour and a half.

All this was but part of a spectacular night's work—one of the mightiest in scope yet made in the British aerial counter-offensive.

British pilots flew 1,600 miles to assault an airplane factory in Turin, Italy, and a magneto works at Milan; others smashed heavily again at the German submarine base of Lorient on the French coast.

Still others smote oil refineries, factories, airdromes, freight yards and ports in Germany, in Holland, in France—at Gelsenkircken and Frankfurt, Nurenberg and Amsterdam; Hamm; Soest, Osnabruck, Duisburg, the Hook of Holland, Stuttgart, Saarbrucken, LeHavre and other cities.

Every British bomber was re-

Book Week Be Observed Here

Among the features pertaining to Book Week, which the Sedalia public library will observe this week from Monday through Saturday, will be interesting exhibits of children's books both in the lobby and in the children's reading room.

Boys and girls of mechanical ability will particularly be interested in one of the new books called "Boat Builder: The Story of Robert Fulton," by Judson. It is a brief, dramatic and simply told biography of the inventor of the steamboat.

Days of peace in Czechoslovakia are described in Bartusek's "Happy Times In Czechoslovakia," which gives children a word-trip to a small native village and tells them a tale of peaceful, happy life there. Children of other countries are the principal characters in several of the books.

Among the many engaging books for the young reader are a football story for the boys, and girls, too, if they like that game, and a vocation story for girls, telling of a girl's experience as an interior decorator. This book is titled "Blue Horizon."

The books recommended for especial attention in celebration of book week are of many types, with appeal for children of various ages. The librarians will be glad to discuss the books with the children and their parents.

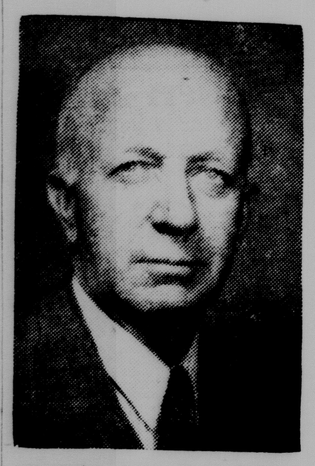

Club Sends Wire To Willkie

Members of the Pettis County Willkie club, at the suggestion of national leaders of the club, have decided to remain as a club, and so wired Wendell L. Willkie, in the following message Saturday afternoon:

"Your crusade to save our way of life found enough supporters in this county to put this normally Democratic stronghold in your column on November 5. We assure you this club will continue to support that same crusade which was approved by more than 23 million voters last Tuesday. We hope you will continue to lead in this movement.

"Pettis County Willkie club, John T. Martin, president; C. A. McNeil, Dick Keenan and George Wilkerson, vice-presidents; E. W. Thompson, treasurer and Earl Crawford, secretary.

Passes Away

Presiding Judge H. F. Fricke of the Pettis County Court who died late Friday after collapse at court house that morning.

Judge Fricke Passes Away At Home Friday

Funeral Services At Lutheran Church Monday Afternoon

Judge Henry Fredrick Fricke, 63 years old, presiding judge of the Pettis County Court, died at his home, 325 North Prospect avenue, about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. Judge Fricke had been in failing health for several years, but his condition was not considered critical until shortly before his passing.

Judge Fricke had gone to the court house Friday morning to assume his duties on watching the official count of the general election and while sitting on the bench became suddenly ill. He was taken to his home and in the afternoon became worse and failed to rally from a coma.

In early life Mr. Fricke was engaged in farming and stock raising. Later in life he became manager of the Sedalia Packing Co., and still later he was a stock buyer at the Missouri Pacific stockyards and at the Missouri-Kansas-Texas stockyards.

Elected Judge In 1934

He was first elected to the judgeship, which he held at the time of his death, in the fall of 1934, was re-elected in the fall of 1938 and was serving his second term.

Judge Fricke was born September 7, 1877, at Prairie Home, the son of the late Henry and Caroline Fricke. He attended the district school in the community in which he lived and completed his education at the Chillicothe Business College.

June 13, 1901 he was married to Miss Anna Belle Chaney, who survives him, as does one daughter, Mrs. J. S. White, nee Clara Fricke of Caruthersville, Mo. Two children preceded him in death, Ruth Fricke and George Fricke.

Also surviving him besides his widow and daughter are two grandchildren, Larry and Virginia Anna White; three sisters, Mrs. Walter Horl of Clarks Fork, Mo., Mrs. Martin Smith of Lone Elm, Mo., and Miss Martha Fricke of Boonville; two brothers, Chris Fricke of Prairie Home and George Fricke of Sedalia.

The body was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home and will be taken to the family home Sunday morning.

Funeral services are to be conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the St. Paul's Lutheran church. The Reverend Herman H. Heidbreder, pastor of the church, will officiate.

Interment will be in the Memorial Park cemetery.

Food To Nursery From Benefit

The Melita Day Nursery received a large assortment of canned food Saturday, sent to the institution by the Fox theatre management, which had its annual benefit show for the nursery that morning.

Admission to the benefit show Saturday morning was by a donation of non-perishable food, most of it being in cans. There was a large attendance and the donations received were splendid, and most gratefully received by the nursery.

J. E. Mater, manager of the theatre, stated that the film companies had donated the film, the operator had obtained permission from his union to donate his services, and all other employes, ushers and all, gave their services free of charge.

Reports Auto Stolen

Junior Lower reported to the police officers last night the theft of his 1940 Master Deluxe Chevrolet car, taken from Lamine avenue, between Fourth and Fifth street, between the hours of eight and ten.

Roll Call For Red Cross Will Start Monday

Strong Appeal Is Made For Greater Membership

The annual Pettis county Red Cross Roll Call membership drive will start, in conjunction with Red Cross organizations over the nation, on Monday, November 11, which is Armistice Day, an appropriate time for the beginning of such a drive.

The men workers will start their drive wit ha breakfast at Hotel Bothwell, at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning. Headquarters for the drive with a breakfast at Hotel avenue.

This will be one of the greatest and most important membership Roll Calls, according to Philip McLaughlin, chairman of the Pettis county chapter. He has as assistants, and heads of campaign divisions, Clint Davis, chairman of the drive, Mrs. Albert Wright, chairman of the residential section, Mrs. William R. Courtney, chairman of the rural section and Prof. C. C. Hubbard, in charge of the Negro memberships.

Hope To Exceed 1939

Red Cross officials have set the goal, not in number of memberships, but to exceed the number who enrolled last year.

Appealing for greater membership, Mr. McLaughlin declared the success of the national enrollment of members will hings upon the individual success of chapters in attaining their membership goals. He urged every person who can to become a Red Cross member to insure the Pettis county chapter meeting its share.

"Following the outset of 'total war' last May," he said, "the American Red Cross asked the public for a fund of $20,000,000 to widen its war relief operations in Europe. This amount has been raised and oversubscribed, enabling the Red Cross to ship thousands of tons of food, clothing and

Morgan County To Have A Jail

(Special To The Democrat-Capital)

VERSAILLES, Nov. 9.—There soon will be a county jail in Versailles, county seat of Morgan county, for the first time in 47 years, due to the passing of a $15,000 bond issue voted on at the polls last Tuesday.

The vote count was made Friday, ad it was found that there were 191 to spare over the two-thirds majority required. The total cost of the jail, to be a WPA project, has been fixed at $26,000. Work, it was said, is to start immediately after the final approval of the Works Progress Administration.

When the present county courthouse was built in 1893, after an earlier one had been destroyed by fire, space was allowed for a county jail in the basement. However, it was ruled all through the years that sanitary conditions were not adequate, and it also was found that quarters would be too crowded.

When the bsement was completed barred cells were included, but they have never been used. Despite the fact there was no place for county prisoners in the courthouse, a holdover for city prisoners has been located on an upper floor of the building for a number of years.

The new structure will house both county and city inmates. The jail will be erected on a vacant lot, east of the city hall, which was recently purchased from the Baptist church here. There will be sheriff quarters above the new jail.

During the 47 years there has been no county "home" for the prisoners they have been taken to the county jails at California, Boonville, Sedalia and Tuscumbia. It has been estimated that the cost of their transportation has amounted to $40,000.

This is the third time a bond issue for the purpose of obtaining county jail funds has been presented to the people.

Demand Lewis Keep Promise

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—(AP)—The New York state industrial union council demanded last night that John L. Lewis make good his promise to step down as head of the Congress of Industrial Organizations at the national convention in Atlantic City Nov. 18.

The state CIO executive board, meeting to complete plans for the convention, denounced a "draft Lewis" movement of the Greater New York CIO council as being "Communist led and representing only a fragment of the city and state CIO membership."

City Hall To Be Closed Monday

The city hall will be closed all day Monday, Armistice day.

Proclamation

Whereas, the American Red Cross, confronted with increased demands of the current national defense and growing needs for widening its regular domestic operations, will on Monday, November 11, embark on its membership Roll Call.

And whereas, the Red Cross officials in Pettis county hope to increase their membership and strengthen the services of the organization, locally and nationally

I, therefore, as mayor of the City of Sedalia, ask the residents of this city to give this worthy organization their support in this annual Roll Call.

JULIAN H. BAGBY,
Mayor of the City of Sedalia.

Army Camp Be Big Asset

Governor Hails Decision In A Statement Made

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 9—(AP)—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark tonight hailed the military training camp to be located near Rolla, Mo., as "a permanent asset of tremendous value—one that will bring millions of dollars into Missouri."

"Its establishment within our borders means that Missouri is to play a vital role in our national defense preparations," the governor said.

"I consider the securing of this camp for Missouri a major accomplishment of my administration."

Yesterday's decision to build the camp in the Mark Twain national forest 30 miles southwest of Rolla "follows nearly two years of intensive effort by Brig. Gen. Lewis M. Means, Missouri adjutant general, to persuade War Department officials to locate such a camp in this state," Stark said.

The camp—described as an $8,000,000 project which will house 44,000 men—will serve as a training center for the 7th Corps Area. It will occupy 65,000 acres of which the government already owns 12,000 acres. The remainder will be purchased.

Army officials predict it will be ready for occupation by next summer.

A site in Iowa originally was chosen for the camp but abandoned because of inadequate facilities.

Mayor J. H. Bagby Be A Convention Speaker

Mayor J. H. Bagby, president of the Missouri Municipal League, will be one of the speakers on the program at the American Municipal Association's seventeenth annual convention, to be held at the Congress hotel. Chicago, November 13 and 14.

Be Closed Armistice Day

The offices in the court house will be closed all day Monday, Armistice Day.

Tenor Soloist

Joseph Wilkins, tenor, of Lawrence, Kas., where he is head of the voice department of the Fine Arts School at the university, will be the guest artist Tuesday night at the Sedalia Symphony orchestra concert.

Sixty Years In Business Here

McLaughlins To Have Observance Of Anniversary

The McLaughlin Brothers Furniture Company, 515 South Ohio avenue, one of Sedalia's largest business establishments, is this week celebrating its sixtieth anniversary.

This company, which sells everything known in the furniture line, and has also one of the most modern undertaking establishments, is operated by grandsons of one of the founders of the firm.

The company was established in 1880 by George C. McLaughlin and J. C. McLaughlin, brothers. George C. McLaughlin had gone into the furniture business in 1876 with a Mr. Galbraith, and in 1880 Mr. J. C. McLaughlin bought out Mr. Galbraith's interests.

The two brothers, George C. and J. C. McLaughlin first went into business in a store on West Second street. They then leased and occupied an adjoining building, and later moved to the Gold block, on the southwest corner of Third street and Lamine avenue.

In 1890 the brothers erected

Judge Scott To Hospital

Malcolm Scott, of La Monte, county judge representing the western district of the county, became ill while at the court house Saturday afternoon and was taken to the Bothwell hospital, where his physician said he will probably remain a few days.

Judge Scott was ill at his home Friday night, but felt better Saturday morning and reported at the court house to complete the official count of the votes cast in Tuesday's election, begun Friday. He assisted in the count all morning, but was unable to continue in the afternoon.

J. C. Connor, justice of the peace, was called in to substitute for him in completing the count.

Sixth Symphony Season Is To Open On Tuesday Night

With Joseph Wilkins, tenor, as soloist, the Sedalia Symphony orchestra will open its season Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock at the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium with Abe Rosenthal conducting. This begins the orchestra's sixth concert year.

Mr. Wilkins is head of the voice department at the University of Kansas, Lawrence. He studied in Italy and Germany in the late twenties and early thirties, and is established as an outstanding tenor in this country, having appeared with leading operetta companies in many states.

A program that ranges from a sparkling composition, the Christmas Tree Suite, to two movements from the impressive Beethoven Fifth Symphony, has been arranged by Mr. Rosenthal.

Spiz' Will Assist

Members of the Smith-Cotton high school Spiz club will assist in the presentation of a special arrangement of "God Bless America," the orchestra's closing number.

Excellent press notices have been received by Mr. Wilkins.

"Young, personable and possessed of stalwart tenor tones he is a singer to be reckoned with," the critic of the Chicago Daily News wrote, while the music reviewer of the Detroit News found that "His tenor is pure and melodious and his distinctly handsome personality carries a certain Byronic charm." A brief line proving his audience appeal as written in the Boston Globe is "Wilkins thrilled the capacity audience."

A personnel of 50 finely trained Sedalia musicians will be under the baton of Mr. Rosenthal Tuesday night when the orchestra starts its 1940-41 concert season.

Season tickets are now being sold by the members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Symphony, under the direction of Mrs. H. C. Johnson. Single admission and season tickets, both, will be on sale all day Tuesday at the Joe Chasnoff drug store, before they are removed an hour before concert time to the high school box office.

The program will be:

I. Orpheus un der Unterweldt, overture—Offenbach.

II. Beethoven Fifth Symphony (allegro con brio (andante con moto.)

III. La Danza—Rossini; Du Bist die Ruh—Schubert; Claire de Lune—Gabriel Faure. Joseph Wilkins, tenor, accompanied by Marie Wilkins.

IV. March of the Toys from "Babes In Toyland"—Victor Herbert.

Intermission.

V. The Christmas Tree Suite—Rebikov.

VI. Go Lovely Rose—Carpenter; The Abbot of Derry—Powell Weaver; The Street Fair—Manning. Mr. Wilkins.

VII. God Bless America—Irving Berlin, orchestra, assisted by the Smith-Cotton high school Spiz club.

Margin For Donnell 3,286 Over McDaniel

Republicans Hint Of Federal Inquiry In 'Irregularities'

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9—(AP)—Absentee voters who had a chance to make history did little after all to affect the final outcome of the close gubernatorial race which kept the election alive in Missouri long after it had been buried in most other states.

After four hectic days of counting and quibbling by suspicious party checkers, Forrest C. Donnell, Republican, held a margin of 3,286 tonight over his Democratic rival, Lawrence McDaniel.

With the absentee vote reported in all but five outstate counties, the vote stood:

Donnell 910,233; McDaniel 906,947.

McDaniel, however, refused to concede that he had been defeated and departed for a weekend of rest in the country. He declined to disclose his destination.

While reports of the possibility of contesting the election in the general assembly continued to filter in from Democratic circles, the Republicans hinted of a federal investigation into alleged irregularities in several counties.

"We are assembling data to present to the proper federal authorities," said Barak T. Mattingly, Republican state chairman. He would not discuss the charges further or name the localities in question.

McDaniel declined to say whether he would file a contest, stating he had no statement to make at this time.

There was only a slim possibility that the absentee vote yet to be reported could materially change the result. All the outstanding counties are small.

Absentee Count

On the basis of returns from 109 counties and the city of St. Louis the absentee vote was:

McDaniel 6,746; Donnell 4,738.

Nine Volunteer For Training

The local draft board has mailed out questionnaires to forty-one young men who have registered in the draft, those whose order numbers range from 1 to 41. These questionnaires are to be returned within five days, and the registrants will then be classified. The board will from now on mail out fifty questionnaires a day in the order number rotation.

Nine young men have volunteered to be among the first to go from Pettis county for one year's training. They are: William Bedford Corson, 1414 East Twelfth street; William Newbill, RFD No. 1; Roderick Meredith Kingsbury, 418 North Moniteau; Charles James Moten, 302 Morgan; Murlin Edwin Smith, 1402 East Fourth street; Hubert Earl Nelson, 208 West Seventeenth street; Carl Pearl Newbill, RFD No. 1; Glen Alvin Hicks, 412 East Second street; Leonard Richard Poindexter, 2011 South Ohio avenue.

Judge H. F. Fricke, who passed away Friday evening, was a member of the draft board. Other members of the board, Sheriff W. L. Marlin and Bryan Howe, notified the state office Saturday and they were informed by Col. Earp, director in charge, that the vacancy would be filled within the next few days.

'Miss Sedalia' An Attendant

Miss Velma Marshall, of this city, was last night chosen one of the eight ladies-in-waiting to Dorothy Jean Ballard, American Royal queen. The eight ladies-in-waiting were selected from among sixty-three entrants.

The other ladies-in waiting were:

Lucille Mararet Eden, Washington, Kas.; Jane Simpson, Chiskasha, Okla.; Lucille Sweatt, Lamar, Mo.; Mary Eleanor Pearson, Marshall, Mo.; Patricia Smith, Bartlesville, Okla.; Rosemary Cowen, Pittsburg, Kas., and Juanita Ingle, Norman, Okla.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9—(AP)—Dorothy Jean Ballard, 18, a blue-eyed Oklahoman from Tulsa, decided it takes more than beauty to win a queenship.

So she tucked a half pound stone in her purse and a slip of paper with the number 7 on it in her large sandal before competing in the queen contest of the American Royal.

She was crowned queen of the annual livestock and horse show tonight.

"In Irish folklore," Miss Ballard explained, "there is a story that if you find a smooth stone in a stream bed with a natural hole in it, it will bring you good fortune."

Mary Jordan, Harrisonville, Mo., and Ann Ellen Jones, Hiawatha, Kas., were named princesses.

Parade For Armistice Day

Armistice Day will be appropriately observed Monday with a program to be held at the American Legion Doughboy on the west lawn of the court house. The program is being arranged by committees of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans, of which Joe Reid is general chairman.

Selective Service enrollees will play a large part in the observance according to the committee. All young men who are enrolled are requested to join the parade which will be held shortly before the service at the Doughboy. These men will march in a body in the parade, along with the veterans organizations and other patriotic groups.

The parade will assemble at Broadway and Ohio at 10:50 o'clock and march north on Ohio to Sixth street, thence east to Lamine, north on Lamine to Third street, west to Ohio avenue, and south on Ohio avenue to the court house.

The Smith-Cotton high school band and the Lincoln high school band will march in the parade and play several selections during the services.

Judge Dimmitt Hoffman, has been chosen to give the principal address. A firing squad at the C.C.C. camp in Sedalia will fire a three-volley salute and taps will be sounded at the close of the services.

Girl Scouts To Be In Armistice Day Parade

Girl Scouts please meet at Ohio and Broadway at 10 o'clock Monday morning for the Armistice day parade. Please bring your troop and American flags.

LONDON, Nov. 9—(AP)—The admiralty announced tonight the submarine H49 is overdue and considered lost.

Others Hold To Standings In Early Tabulation

The official count of the ballots cast in Tuesday's election in Pettis county was begun Friday morning and completed Saturday evening. The count was originally to have been made by two judges of the county court, Malcolm Scott and J. K. Lacey, Jr., and W. B. Rissler, with Judge H. F. Fricke as a witness. Before the count started Judge Fricke became ill. It was necessary to take him home where he passed away that evening. Frank Wagner substituted for him in witnessing the count.

The group started the counting for the second day Saturday and about noon Judge Scott became ill, and he was taken to the hospital. J. C. Connor, justice of the peace, was called in to substitute for him.

Menefee Wins In Count

The greatest interest was shown in the contest between John W. Menefee, Democrat and Lawson Clingan, Republican, candidates for assessor. On the unofficial count of the ballots, exclusive of the absentee votes, Clingan led Menefee by 74 votes. When the absentee votes were counted Menefee had 150 and Clingan 61. The total vote Saturday afternoon was recorded as 8719 votes for Menefee and 8707 for Clingan, Menefee winning the office by 11 votes.

Investigate On Absentees.

A Republican judge and clerk Carl G. Schrader and John T. Martin, respectively, who participated in the absentee vote count, refused to sign the tally sheet, alleging they believed there were irregularities in some of the ballots, which they had no opportunity to check and challenge.

Republican party leaders indicated that when the official count was completed some further action might be taken relative to the absentee votes, and that the matter might be taken to circuit court for action. Nothing had been done last night, but it is understood further investigation is being made in the matter.

Series Of Shocks

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 10.—(Sunday)—(AP)—Bulgarians were awakened early today by several consecutive earth shocks felt throughout Bulgaria.

The tremors occurred about 3:42 a. m. (7:42 p. m. C. S. T. Saturday.)

Chimneys collapsed in one village, seriously injuring one person, but full reports of damage were not immediately available, nor was the epicenter known.

The first report indicated a severe earthquake had occurred about 225 miles from Sofia in a northeasterly direction —toward central Rumania.

The quake, which lasted five minutes, sent a 10-story building containing 50 apartments crashing to earth in a mass of rubble in Bucharest.

Houses and buildings throughout the city were damaged and the death toll was expected to be high.

Cross Road Comments

G. H. S.

313—

Storeroom 313 South Ohio street bids fair to refute a numerical jinx. This year it was occupied by state headquarters of Senator Harry S. Truman during the primary election in which he was successful. Subsequently he won the state election. It was next occupied by the Willkie club whose candidate received a majority vote in Pettis and surrounding counties. Now it is to be headquarters for the Pettis county chapter of the American Red Cross during its membership drive beginning Monday. May success attend this worthy cause.

Old timers will recall that 313 was occupied by James M. West, grocer, as far back as 1883. C. F. Walch operated the Boston Cafe from this same location over 43 years ago. More recently in 1913 Mallery's Millinery store used the room. Two years later Nell and Jewell Murphy were there as proprietors of a millinery store. Then came Klang's Books and Millinery store, the Piggly Wiggly grocery and Hildebrandt's cafe in 1937.

Learning To Live—

A Texas man seeking a job, writes: "My own needs and wants are few. The days of big money are gone, as far as I am concerned. So sweet are the uses of adversity that the old depression has taught us how to live. I have learned, along with my family, the difference between the high cost of living and the cost of high living. What I mean is that I can afford to do the kind of work I love for a surprisingly small salary."

A Contrast—

The above was written by a man of 50 who has seen something of life and philosophically and optimistically adjusts himself.

From Indiana state comes a letter written by a younger man—28 years old and married: "It looks like I gambled on an election and lost again . . . I suppose I'd just as well withdraw my bid for a job on your staff and come around to see you in 1944—provided the country as such lasts that long . . . I've got to find another job . . . I'll keep you informed of my whereabouts and drop in again about August 1944. So long—and best of luck to you. Wish me the same, I'll need it."

It Will Pass—

Momentary pangs of remorse will pass as always. Samuel Johnson wrote: "When there is no hope, there can be no endeavor." To the discouraged young man we shall send this advice. He'll have a job long before 1944 arrives—someplace, somewhere, if he rises above his inclination toward defeatism.

Something For Everyone—

After all, the election had its bright side for almost everyone — especially the ticket-splitters. The results were so kaleidoscopic it was a poor picker who didn't get a vote in for a few successful candidates.

The most anxious souls, however, are those dependent on appointments by a governor. If Forrest Donnell holds to his evident victory, then there will be many new faces on the appointive payroll.

It's an ill wind that bloweth no man good. For instance Jefferson City merchants agree that a change of administration is tremendously profitable to them. New people move in — new furnishings for rented homes are bought, new accounts established; there is a splurge of spending. When it levels off, the newcomers expenditures balance the loss of the state appointees who were displaced.

Whose Pot?—

A case of the pot calling the kettle black, is the wailing of the election losers. Depending on which county you live in and which side was victorious, one or the other intimates that there was election crookedness. This comes with bad grace from the machine affiliates, however, and provides no more than a hearty laugh for the rank and file voter who committed the dastardly trick of voting an honest ballot.

Chances are there was some cheating by both sides—the old irresistible urge. Notwithstanding this, we have machine and non-machine officials elected to high and low offices —something for everyone.

Eyes East—

All eyes are turning eastward—to Washington and the administration. The over-critical will make something out of every administration move, domestically and internationally. This is to be expected by the opposition. Intelligent criticism should be respected, and moderate mistakes dealt with moderately.

Already Secretary Morgenthau's post-election announcement for raising the public debt limit a few more billions of dollars and raising of taxes is becoming a target. Of course it would not have been good politics to have made that announcement before the election, though the proposal was written some time ago. The Republicans would have played the cards the same way.

Now Iowa is moaning over the loss of an army camp site. It was promised them before election, but Iowa didn't support its favored son for vice-president. So right after election army officials reveal that the site for the cantonment will be located in Missouri, near Rolla. Missourians, of course, will agree that this was the thing to do. The ill wind bloweth again, but as we feel it selfishly—in the right direction. After all, didn't Missouri give 15 votes to the New Deal team.

Judge Fricke—

Despite a grave illness of years standing that racked him physically, Judge H. F. Fricke, presiding judge of the Pettis county court, fought valiantly against it and maintained a surprising vigor in exercising his citizenship duties as a court official. Many kindly words may be said about him. He was in active service ready to officiate in the official ballot count when death summoned him. He was proud of his position of responsibility and gave of his best until the last, disregarding the stress of illness.

The Beam In Our Own Eye

We are appalled at the slaughter of civilians in Europe by indiscriminate bombing. How many men, women and children have been snuffed out in London and Berlin while going about their daily tasks, we do not know, though figures released from both countries show the toll is mounting thousands.

Meanwhile, the death toll of our own streets and roads has also mounted, in the first nine months of this year, to 23,830. That is 1,500 more than in the same period last year, the National Safety Council reports.

The man, woman, or child suddenly struck down on the highway without warning is just as dead as the bomb victim; the sorrow of their family and friends is just as great; the loss to the country as telling. And however useless war may be, it is no more useless than the death we permit to stalk our streets.

The season of slippery pavements and rain-dimmed windshields is upon us. Don't let death thumb a ride in your car!

Mark The Date, Sept. 7

It has not yet been marked down on the calendars as a public holiday. But Sept. 7 has been marked by Eric Sevareid, European news commentator.

That was the day, Sevareid notes, when the Nazis began bombing London's East End, and to him it marked the end of the British ruling class.

While the war goes, while the bombs fall, a social revolution is going on in Great Britain, Sevareid believes, thus adding his observation to those of many other foreign commentators who have noted the same thing. When bankers and cabmen sleep side by side in the same shelters and a hair's breadth on the crosswires of a bomb-sight are all that determines whether death falls on Buckingham Palace or a Stepney pub, something happens that will not be ended when the bombs stop falling.

This, too, we ought to remember when we try to calculate the effects of war upon the world.

DO WE NEED MUSIC?
By Dr. Harry S. May

As long as a free people can speak freely their freedom will prevail. And as long as people choose their kind of music, their life as a nation will be guaranteed. As long as our American people sing and cultivate music, stage and reproduce the classical melodies of centuries past and re-echo the rhythms which grew out of our soil—we don't need to worry about the preservation of our character as a nation. And as long as our souls vibrate by listening to the divine revelations of great masters — we will have the strength to cope with the destiny which knocks so stormily at our doors, treasuring within us ideals of freedom and liberty.

But whenever a nation begins to march, begins to cede to march music and gives up the right to sing — its soul will soon enough be silenced by the roaring of the drums and its terrified pulse stands still by looking at the mechanization of the human soul—which will be visible and presented to us by marching soldiers, uniformed and mechanized human beings. The rolling drums speak only one language which means WAR. But a nation in peace, because it chooses to live in peace, and to preserve its right to sing freely—such a nation will always listen to reason and intelligence—because it dares to listen to its soul, the voice from within every individual. Singing people will always be free people, marching people will always be slaves of the God of War. . . .

Having this thought in mind, I see the vital necessity for each community in America to have its own CIVIC Music. Visualizing the great dangers which threaten our life and our human soul, I plead not only for the preservation of music but for full support of each citizen in this country—so that we may live and keep on singing, presenting ourselves, as we are: A FREE PEOPLE WHICH WILL NEVER GIVE UP ITS RIGHT TO SING FREELY. If we lose this simple thought from our mind, if we neglect our God-given right to talk and to understand each other better through the medium of music, if we don't see the importance of music—which ties us so closely together, inspires and elates us, cultivates and fills our hearts with humility and almost religious devotion—if we do not realize this great philosophy which belongs to us as a nation, we will never prevail in our fight for existence with which we are so inevitably confronted.

• Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Must you tell your hostess you had a good time, whether you did or not?

2. Must both the host and hostess shake hands with departing guests?

3. If house guests leave in their car should the host and hostess walk out on the porch to wave goodby?

4. If four or five people are talking about matters or persons that one member of the group does not know, should he be given a brief "fill in" so he can follow the conversation?

5. If a third person joins you and a friend when you are in the middle of a conversation is it necessary to say "We were discussing so-and-so" before picking up the conversation?

What would you do if—

You know nothing about a subject being discussed—

(a) Keep out of the conversation until it turns to something else?

(b) Feel you must say something, even if you are not sure of what you are saying?

Answers

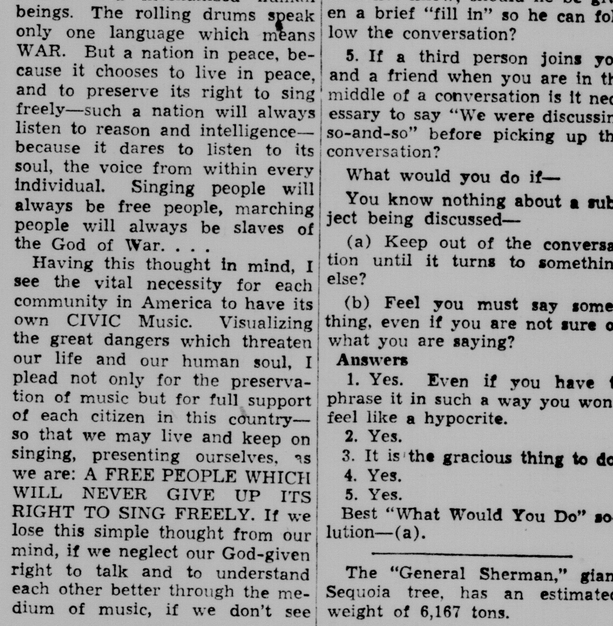

1. Yes. Even if you have to phrase it in such a way you won't feel like a hypocrite.
2. Yes.
3. It is the gracious thing to do.
4. Yes.
5. Yes.

Armistice Day, 1940

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—The first problem President Roosevelt took under consideration immediately after election was how to bring Republican forces into the government in order to effect greater national unity and heal election wounds.

Last winter, Roosevelt invited Frank Knox, vice-presidential running mate of Landon's, into the cabinet as secretary of the navy; and Henry L. Stimson, who had a long record in Republican cabinets, as his secretary of war. Roosevelt would like to do something like this today in order to give representation to the opposition party at a time of national emergency.

One suggestion made along this line is appointment of Senator McNary, defeated for vice-president, as secretary of agriculture. McNary and Roosevelt have been excellent personal friends for many years, and Roosevelt frequently has called in the Republican Senate leader for advice. McNary also has been a leader of the farm bloc and was an author of the famous McNary-Haugen farm bill.

Also discussed within the inner circle has been whether Roosevelt should offer an administration post to Wendell Willkie—possibly the job of co-ordinator of national defense.

However, close advisers warn Roosevelt that Willkie is temperamental, difficult to work with, and has never experienced the political give and take of public office. Therefore it seems more likely that McNary rather than Willkie would be invited into the official family if any Republican is to be included. At any rate, Roosevelt is almost certain to invite Republicans in for series of conferences of some kind aiming toward greater political co-operation.

Campaign Wives

Wives played a unique role in the campaign just concluded—Mrs. Willkie, Mrs. Roosevelt, and several other important political ladies, among them Mrs. Farley.

Mrs. Willkie, of course, was constantly at her husband's side. Mrs. Roosevelt was not.

Probably one reason for this was the fact that privately Mrs. Roosevelt never wanted her husband to run for a third term. She felt that a third term would be full of headaches, that no president could weather the next four years without a terrific toll upon his health, and that her husband would be sure to step out of office at the end of twelve years a far less popular man than he is today.

Before the Chicago convention, therefore, she did not lift a finger for the president's renomination, but tried to discourage it. After the nomination, naturally she was 100 percent for her husband, and her absence from the political arena did not mean that she would not have been on the job had she been needed.

In previous campaign years one lady from the Roosevelt family has accompanied the president, sometimes Mrs. Roosevelt, sometimes Betsy, the divorced wife of Jimmy Roosevelt, and sometimes his daughter, Mrs. Anna Boettiger. This year Roosevelt's trips were supposed to be for defense inspection, until near the end, so no ladies were present.

Mrs. Roosevelt continued with her own busy life and kept out of sight as much as possible. She had no effect whatever upon the election. But Mrs. Willkie was a tremendous asset to her husband, undoubtedly won votes for him. With her husband bidding for the biggest job of his life, Mrs. Willkie came to his support.

Her demure charm, and the unflinching manner in which she faced barrages of eggs and vegetables, helped increase the large popular vote rolled up by her husband.

Bess Farley

Another lady who played a behind-the-scenes role in this election was Mrs. James A. Farley. Her influence was felt more in the pre-nomination days, but at all times it was potent.

Jim Farley is one of the greatest family men in the United States. He adores his three children, and there isn't anything in the world he wouldn't do for Bess, his wife. She was one of the chief reasons why Jim got out of the cabinet and turned his extraordinary genius to a business career.

It was on March fourth, at the cabinet dinner, that Bess Farley really boiled over against Franklin Roosevelt. Just a few days before, Ernest Lindley had published his article stating that Roosevelt opposed Jim Farley as his successor because of the political handicaps in the path of any Catholic candidate. So to her partner at the dinner, Bess Farley let off steam against Roosevelt to such an extent that efforts were immediately taken by various cabinet members to patch up a peace between Roosevelt and the postmaster general.

What Mrs. Farley said at that time was that if Jim could not get the nomination, he would at least control the convention, and he would see to it that Roosevelt would not be nominated. It will be recalled that Mrs. Farley went out to Chicago at the start of the convention, and it was about this time that Jim's opposition to the president stiffened.

In the recent campaign, it got around that Bess Farley was wearing a Willkie button. This was incorrect. However, she made no effort at dinner parties to conceal her views, and if Jim had followed them he never would have pitched in to carry New York State for Roosevelt in the energetic way he did.

Roosevelt Children

Among the Roosevelt children, Betsy Cushing Roosevelt, ex-wife of Jimmy, was a staunch supporter of the president, who has always been extremely fond of her. However, Elliott's ex-wife, now Mrs. Curtin Windsor, contributed $5,000 to defeat her former father-in-law.

Probably the best campaigning among the Roosevelt children was done by Franklin, Jr., whose wife is Ethel duPont, daughter of Eugene duPont. The far flung duPont family contributed around $50,000 to the Willkie campaign, but Ethel remained loyal to her in-laws.

Franklin's speeches were of a rather naive, amateurish nature, but they endeared him tremendously to his father. Franklin would start his speeches in most formal vein, carefully referring to his father as "the president." But when heckled from the side, he usually forgot his dignity and sometimes shouted, "my old man's a great guy."

Young Philip Willkie, on the other hand, kept strictly out of politics, and stuck to his knitting as a graduate student at Harvard. This may have been because the elder Willkie focused some unfortunate attention upon his son last June when he called up Princeton authorities on the long distance telephone and berated them for forty minutes because Philip had failed to graduate from the university.

This was just about the time of Willkie's nomination, and he insinuated that Princeton had flunked his son in order to embarrass him politically. Willkie's complaint was made to Professor Raymond J. Sontag, head of the history department, whose secretary took down Willkie's conversation on an extension telephone. The transcript still is in the files at Princeton, where professors who have read it describe it as a "colorful document."

NOTE: Young Willkie actually made an excellent record at Princeton, but his final thesis on "Commonwealth and Southern" was rated poor by three different readers who marked it. At that time, however, Philip was running the Daily Princetonian with eminent success, having made more money for the paper than ever before.

A dog which was acting very strangely was killed near Fristoe Thursday and brought to Warsaw and was found to belong to Sheriff Harrison Eaton. The head was taken to Columbia and it was found the dog was suffering with rabies. Several dogs here were bitten.

Lionel Neff of Independence came Sunday for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Earl Estes and Mr. Estes and family. He went on Thursday to Springfield where he will visit his uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Neff near Lebonan, returning to his home Sunday.

The revival services at the Baptist church is growing in attendance and interest. Rev. W. E. Denham is delivering fine messages each evening at 7:30. The Methodist and Christian churches dismissed their services last Sunday evening for the evangelistic services and the other churches are cooperating in a great way. Special music every night.

When Prime Minister Churchill paid stirring tribute to the Royal Air Force's defense of Britain by declaring that "never have so many owed so much to so few," these are some of the lads he meant. The photo-montage above presents types who man the famed Spitfire fighting planes. They are young, alert, with boyish smiles that give no hint of the deadly fighting spirit that has earned them the nickname of "Hitler's Headaches." They are anonymous, for the defense of Britain is a fight of teamwork. So with their pictures, the British censor sent no names—just their jobs. At top, left to right, are shown: a flying officer from New Zealand; an American from Illinois; a sergeant pilot. Across bottom: a young flight lieutenant; a pilot officer; and a youthful squadron leader who wears the Distinguished Flying Cross ribbon under his winged insignia.

Meet By Society Of Christian Service

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Dresden Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. William Bolton Thursday, November 7 with a large group of members and one visitor Mrs. Stallard present. Rev. and Mrs. Alwell were also present.

Mrs. Charles Fichter, president of the circle, who was a delegate to the Kansas City meeting gave a very interesting report.

The morning was spent quilting and working on articles for the bazaar. At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was served.

The afternoon was devoted to the lesson study and business meeting and plans were completed for the annual turkey dinner and bazaar Wednesday, Nov. 13.

Retail Grocers To Meet On Monday

Play Be Given At PTA Meeting

The regular meeting of the Mark Twain Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the school auditorium, next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. N. F. Bockelman presiding. A feature of the program, arranged by the program chairman, Mrs. Pinkney Miller, will be a 2-act play, written and directed by Miss Nina K. Slater and Mrs. Elmer Dillard, in keeping with National Education Week.

Members and friends are invited to attend the regular study class which meets at 2 o'clock, preceding the P. T. A. meeting. Mrs. E. E. Brasfield, leader, has announced the topic, "A Happy Christmas For Your Child," a subject which should prove helpful to parents, when there is yet time for planning for the Christmas holidays.

IT'S TRUE! By Wiley Padan

NEW YORK, N. Y.—"IT'S TRUE! that Robert Taylor recently received a copy of a Nebraska newspaper which carried a column about events that happened ten years ago," says Wiley Padan..."One item mentioned that he with his cello and another musician were to play duets over radio station KMMB... Taylor admitted that offhand he couldn't have remembered what he was doing ten years ago. He added that if anyone had suggested that ten years later he would be holding Miss Shearer in his arms, he wouldn't have believed it. At the time his one aim in life was to be a concert cellist... The famous M-G-M star still has the cello on which he used to practice... And just between us, Taylor is another example of the old saying that it pays not to quit Hollywood. The next twenty-four hours may bring success. He applied for re-enrollment in medical college, despairing of a movie future, when he appeared in a 'Crime Doesn't Pay' short, which started his spectacular career."

"ESCAPE" starring Robert Taylor and Norma Shearer starts Tuesday at the Fox Theatre.

'River's End,' Thrilling Film, At Uptown Today, Monday and Tuesday

The Northwest Mounted's most exciting man hunt begins today at the Uptown Theatre to continue Monday and Tuesday, when Jas. Oliver Curwood's "River's End," crosses the screen. Starring Dennis Morgan, George Tobias and Elizabeth Earl, the Warner Bros. thriller tells a dramatic tale of civilization's last outpost and the scarlet coated Mounties who rule it!

Sergeant Conniston didn't know it, but he was starting out on the strangest case in the history of the Mounted, when he set out for River's End, the Dodge City of the North. He was searching for John Keith, an escaped murderer, fighting his way through the silent snows to freedom. And waiting at the end of the trail was a girl fearfully awaiting the winner . . . her sweetheart or her brother.

Dennis Morgan, whose most recent screen appearance was in "Flight Angels," is given the best part in his career. He plays the dual role of Sergeant Conniston and John Keith, the man wanted for murder. Elizabeth Earl, beautiful, young English actress makes her motion picture debut as the girl who is torn between love for her brother and for her sweetheart. Advance reports credit her with turning in a scintillating performance that is certain to bring stardom at Warners to the gifted actress. George Tobias, noted character actor, is to be seen in the role of a French-Canadian who remains Sergeant Conniston's devoted servant in spite of Steffi Duna's attempts at marrying him. Other members of the cast include Victor Jory and James Stephenson.

Adapted from James Oliver Curwood's great adventure story, "River's End" is certain to please movie goers everywhere. Ray Enright directed the stirring film while the screen play was written by Barry Trivers and Bertram Millhauser.

Co-feature is "Love, Honor and Oh Baby!" with Wallace Ford, Katharine Adams, Mona Barrie and Donald Woods.

Liberty Theatre Presents Clyde Bysom's "Collegians," Vaudeville, and first run picture "Old Swimmin' Hole" Today

The Liberty theatre will feature Clyde Bysom and his "Collegians," a twelve-piece swing band, on their stage Sunday. This combination is destined to be one of the greatest bands in the Midwest. The band, which is only three years old, has played some of the finest spots in this territory. The band is built along the Glenn Miller style with plenty of novelties. Rex Cowan is the featured vocalist.

The vaudeville is made up of three outstanding acts which include, Mardo and Kay, the "Laff Winners," a man and girl comedy act which is chock full of laughs from start to finish; Freda Lee, acrobatic novelty act. Miss Lee is an attractive young girl, who is sure to please the audience with her many acrobatic dance numbers. Marvelle, a young girl with a charming personality and a beautiful voice, who sings and dances.

On the screen the Liberty presents a first run picture "The Old Swimmin' Hole," which stars Marcia Mae Jones and Jackie Moran.

Jackie Moran has many claims to distinction, among them parts in "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," and "Gone With The Wind." But with all his picture success, he is still a real American boy.

In Monogram's "The Old Swimmin' Hole," Jackie co-stars with Marcia Mae Jones. The locale of the story is the small town of Oakdale. It's pretty quiet there until Marcia Mae comes to visit her father, the town doctor. From then on everybody has a lot more to think about, especially Jackie and the boys in his Lion's club.

Featured in the cast are Leatrice Joy, Charles Brown, George Cleveland, and Theodore Von Eltz.

chased and converted into one of the most modern funeral chapels in the state.

George C. McLaughlin died about 1916, and two years later John C. McLaughlin, Jr., purchased his interest from the estate of the deceased.

Grandsons Operate Store

The company continued as the McLaughlin Furniture Company, and when sons of John C. McLaughlin, Jr., John C. the III,

Philip McLaughlin

better known as Jack, and Philip were young men, they entered the store and learned the business, both furniture and undertaking, under the most able teachers.

These two young men are now managing the firm, John C. McLaughlin as president and Philip McLaughlin as secretary and treasurer of the company.

A visit to this establishment is interesting to those who admire good furniture. There are three floors and a basement, filled with furniture of all styles and designs, curtains, draperies and the many novelties that add comfort and beauty to the home.

Their chapel is in charge of licensed embalmers and experienced funeral directors.

Few Briefs Of Interest Around And About The State Noted

By Ed Mills

BOONVILLE, Mo., Nov. 10—(AP)—Life goes on department. . . . . Being random glimpses of "just people" in Missouri, caught thru the fog that usually beclouds the early days of November each leap year.

Lois Bryan called at a Boonville doctor's office for repairs to a broken finger suffered in a pillow fight at her father's home in Prairie Lick community.

Brookfield's new fire trucks went whizzing across town, sirens open, to battle a blaze in a dog house.

Every pupil in Grundy county's Amick school had a perfect attendance record through the current school year's first quarter.

The Nevada Daily Mail carried the following ad: "To my friends who help me gather pecans, this is to notify you that there is no crop this fall."

An evangelist in the city of Carthage preached a sermon on: "Carthage or Sodom—Which is Worse?"

Ralls County Conservation Agent Walter Hafner granted special permission to farmers thereabouts to hunt mountain lions on account of mysterious tracks noted around barnyards reporting missing animals.

Cy Thompson of Ravenwood, who once sought office as a Democrat, has one of the state's best collection of elephants . . . but he's still a Democrat.

Henry Thomas celebrated his 104th birthday at Columbia . . . and 45 children, grandchildren and great grandchildren attended a birthday party for 93-year-old Mrs. Susan Farris at Brookfield.

One officer's mess at Camp Hulen, Texas., where Missouri's "Houn Dawg" regiment is training already has had a turkey dinner with Thanksgiving still weeks away.

Even progress has its drawbacks . . . an overpass has eliminated a dangerous MKT railroad crossing at New Franklin but it eliminated the crossing flagman's job too, so Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Ramey have moved to Ft. Scott, Kas., after he had served the same company in the same town for 41 years.

Old Newt, prize pointer of Joplin's Bill Owen, will miss a quail season for the first time in 14 years. . . . but his liver and white body has been appropriately buried in the midst of the best quail territory on the Owen farm near Wentworth.

R.A.M. Degrees Be Conferred

Sedalia Royal Arch Masons are looking forward to a great meeting Monday afternoon, when all the degrees of the order will be conferred by teams from Sedalia, Liberty and Marshall. Several Grand Chapter officers will be present, as well as other distinguished Masons from various parts of the state.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. and a program of music and addresses will be a feature of the dinner hour. Already many reservations have been made for the dinner and it is expected that one of the largest crowds in many months will be present.

Only 45 per cent of the passenger car mileage is for purely recreational or social purposes.

Accident Rate Higher In Winter

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 9—Winter death and accident rates in Missouri are considerably higher than summer mishaps, as compared to volume of traffic on highways, state traffic safety engineers for the Missouri Highway Department disclosed this week in warning Missouri motorists of seasonal hazards of the road.

According to national figures, winter death rates are about 40 per cent higher than summer death rates in the northern half of the country, and about 20 per cent in the southern half.

"Longer hours of darkness, slippery driving surfaces, fog, rain, sleet and snow are contributing factors," C. W. Brown, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, said.

He urged motorists to check their brakes to see that they drag evenly, reduce their speeds to conform to changing conditions and beware of frosty, slippery road surfaces.

Recent tests made by the National Safety Council's special committee on "Safe Winter Driving" warn that although tires with good treads are preferred to smooth tires on dry and wet roads, performance with new tires is no better than with smooth tires on snowy and icy surfaces.

"Motorists should not, therefore, rely upon tread design for anti-skid protection on these surfaces. Tires of special mud or lug design, however, have advantages on loose snow, although having no advantage on smooth ice or packed snow that is icy," these recent tests disclose, pointing out that the use of chains as the most practical means of self-help for increasing traction on snowy and icy roads.

All Day Meet By Extension Club

The Sunnyside Home Economics Extension club met in an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. C. B. Crockett, with Mrs. Charles Howe assisting hostess, Wednesday, November 6.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. P. Tucker, who introduced the speaker for the day, County Health Nurse Miss Reba Gum, who gave a very helpful and beneficial talk on her different work in the county, clinics and school of instructions. She also told of it being both beneficial to health and well being to have a health checkup each year by a physician. Her talk was greatly enjoyed by all present. After a delightful luncheon to which all contributed, the meeting was again given over to a delightful talk and demonstration by Mrs. W. O. Harris and brother, Charles Ingram on "Keeping House With Paper," and helpful Christmas suggestions. After these talks a playlet was given by several members of the club entitled, "Peace In Our Time."

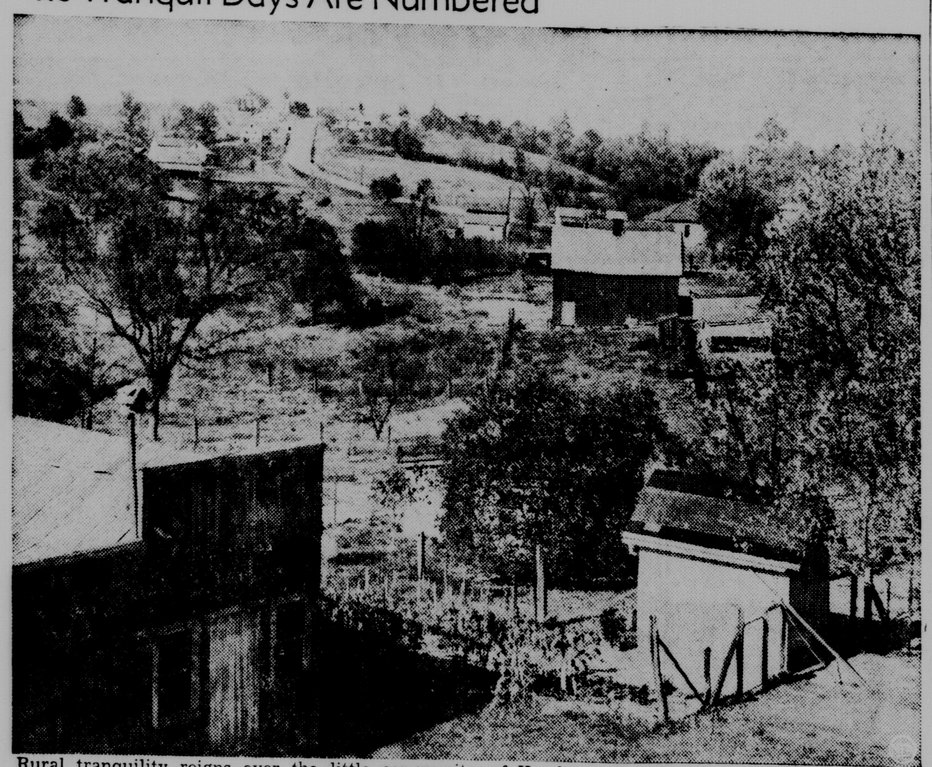

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William White with Mrs. C. Rodenbach assisting hostess, December 4.

State's First Mined Mineral

One of the first minerals mined in the state of North Carolina was mica, as is shown by tons of debris on the sites of ancient dumps which testify to the extensive operations by Indians.

The Russian bombers and fighters that fought against the Finnish air force had armor plate .2758 inches thick that would stop .30 caliber machine gun bullets.

Its Tranquil Days Are Numbered

Rural tranquility reigns over the little community of Hamburg, Mo., in the photo above, but the town's calm existence soon will end. For Hamburg, together with the towns of Mechanicsville, Howell and Toonerville, including adjacent farms and cemeteries, will soon be obliterated, to be replaced by army munitions plants. The plants, costing $10,000,000, will occupy an 18,000-acre tract whose clearing will affect 500 land-owning and tenant families.

Lone Star PTA Has Program

Lone Star P. T. A. met Friday night, with Mrs. J. J. Kehl, president, in charge of the business meeting. The meeting opened by all singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," after which the "Lord's Prayer" was repeated by all.

Names were drawn for the exchange of Christmas gifts.

The following program was presented under the supervision of Mrs. James McFatrick:

Song, "God Bless America," by all present.

Speech, "The Robins," Grace Schneider.

Piano Trio, "Hatchet Brigade Two Step," Nellie Belle, Dorothy and Elsie Garrett.

Play, "The Order of Undependent Unmarried Women," Vera Kathryn, Helen McFatrick, Nellie Belle, Dorothy and Elsie Garrett, Marjorie Billings and Helen Anderson.

Violin Solo, "You Are My Sunshine," Harold Kehl.

Quartet, "Life's Evening Sun," Sam Wahmeyer, Jack Baugh, James and George Anderson.

Negro Play, "Brother Griddens Visit," Nellie Belle, Dorothy Garrett, Helen Anderson, Vera Kathryn and Helen McFatrick.

Vocal Solo, "Cattle Call," Russel McFatrick.

Play, "Speak To my Heart," Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kehl.

Refreshments of sandwiches and cocoa were served.

The next meeting will be December 4.

An Immense Turnip

Mrs. L. H. Lippoldt, 1218 East Sixth street, brought to the Democrat-Capital a large turnip grown in her husband's garden. The turnip weighs four pounds and is twenty inches in circumference.

It is on display in the office of this newspaper.

The British fighting plane Defiant has 21 guns. There is a hydraulically turned turret firing four machine guns; 14 machine guns in the wings close to the fuselage; two cannons synchronized with the propeller, and a third cannon firing through the propeller shaft. The plane has a top speed of 350 miles an hour.

Brownie troop 55 met at Lincoln school with their leader Mrs. Black. We discussed the second phase of how to become a good Brownie. Ten members were present. We elected our scribe for the month of November. We played two games and reviewed the Brownie promise.

Margie Lowe, Scribe.

Troop 24 met at St. Patricks school Thursday. The tenderfoot Scouts worked on their arts and crafts and the second class girls worked on their knitting. Last Monday we had our Juliette Low party in the club room.

Shirley Weimholt, Scribe.

Troop 61 met at St. Patrick's school Tuesday afternoon. We had discussions on the behavior of Brownie Scouts. We made plans for another popcorn sale in about two weeks.

Oda Marie Boss, Scribe.

The annual Troop Birthday party will be held Saturday morning, November 16, at 9:30 at the Fox theatre. This party is for all Brownie and Girl Scouts who are registered for the coming year. Mr. Mater, manager of the new Fox theatre, has planned a program of pictures especially for the party and has given the Girl Scouts the use of the theatre for their party. The Sedalia Council of Girl Scouts will furnish refreshments for all attending.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McClure of Otterville, visited Thursday afternoon with Mrs. McClure's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Perdue and her brother, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Perdue and family. Mrs. McClure remained until Sunday, when Mr. McClure and their son, Lee, and daughter, Eunice Alberta, returned for the day.

GOOD BOOKS—GOOD FRIENDS

Now is the time to give the children books

BOOK WEEK being celebrated November 10-16 provides a pleasant annual national festivity which our community shares. In happy mood, it presents programs vital to private living and public welfare,—a crusade for books and reading!

"It would be hard to find anyone who would declare that it is unnecessary for children to learn to read", says a Library Bulletin, "yet reading in itself is not the end we seek, but only a means to that end. The goal of all education is the enrichment of life, and a child's reading carefully guided will deepen and strengthen his future ability to make the most of himself and his opportunities.

"To love books so that they may be woven into the warp and woof of his life a child should have his own individual library, which grows year by year with his growth, yet which contains friends to whom he will return time and time again, secure in the knowledge of a happy companionship full of pleasant association."

Through twenty two years recurring observances of BOOK WEEK have contributed to the quality and the quantity of books, to the facilities for their public circulation, to the growing army of men and women fitted and informed to advise and direct a course for "wider and wiser use of books".

While library service is growing rapidly it has been estimated that only one person in three has a good library near at hand. Of the 46,000,000 Americans without access to libraries, millions are obviously children! Small towns and rural areas suffer the greatest lack in this direction.

We spend ample time in planning what we shall put on and in our children's bodies and little on what we shall put in their minds! They go to school, but that is for only five hours a day for approximately 185 days in the year. What of the years before they go to school, what of the hours and days each year in which they are not under instruction? Have we any deliberate plan to care for the mind's growth as we care for the body's?

Let us, then, during this BOOK WEEK, plan to have more books in the home, the school, the library—books to satisfy needs and to stimulate imagination, books for wholesome entertainment, friendly understanding and broadening education!

He's R. A. F.'s "Master Planner"

Britons are expecting ever-increasing R.A.F. counter-attacks against their foes, inspired by Sir Charles Portal, new Chief of Air Staff, who is known as an apostle of attack. As head of the bomber command, he drew up the "master plan" of blasting German embarkation ports and supply bottlenecks which is largely credited with staving off invasion.

Loula Long Combs Still Winner With Her Horses

By William Macklin

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9—(AP)—Mrs. Loula Long Combs has won so many prize ribbons in her 44-year career as a horse show exhibitor the streamers have to wait in line to get a place in the Combs trophy den.

She still drives her harness horses in competition and has no intention of retiring or selling the 69-horse stable at her 1,700-acre farm near Kansas City.

"My harness room at Longview farm is wall-papered with ribbons," the gray-haired veteran said between events at the recent St. Louis National Horse show. "And when those fade we pull some new ones out of the trunk and discard the old."

She is out after more ribbons at the American Royal Horse Show which opened today in Kansas City and runs through November 16.

Originality is a byword with Mrs. Combs. She has the customary chrome scraped off the wheels of her contest rigs and paints them red "just to be different." Followers of horse shows, to which she returns each year as regularly as the robins, know Mrs. Combs' colors like a green "go" light and applaud her exit from the ring even if she isn't a winner.

Many owners of championship stables name horses with a common prefix, but for 29 years she has registered her animals with names ending in "ion."

"I named one 'Meditation' because I couldn't make up my mind if I wanted to buy him or not," she explained. "Another time I named one 'Temptation because I didn't need him, but bought anyway."

"If I get stuck for a name,' she confessed. "I just look in the dictionary."

Most regular blue-ribbon winner is "Captivation," a chestnut mare for whom Mrs. Combs has refused $25,000, which isn't hay for a harness horse. For five years the mare has been undefeated.

Mrs. Combs launched her career as an exhibitor away from home at the first St. Louis national horse show in 1896. Then, a girl of 14, she was adjudged the best lady rider.

Asked afterward if she wasn't surprised to win over older and more experienced riders, she replied: "No, I prayed to win."

With further successes, her father, who made a fortune in lumber, bought more horses and his daughter made the name Loula Long famous in show circles. And many of her early triumphs were on saddle horses—riding side saddle, which passed out with button shoes—but in recent years Mrs. Combs has exhibited harness animals exclusively.

The "grand old lady" of the tanbark circle has competed in 28 states from California to New York and in two foreign countries. In 1910, she won with her roadster, "The King," in London, England.

When not on the show circuit, Mrs. Combs lives at Longview with her husband, a Kansas City lumberman. He seldom travels with her.

"He stays home to make the money," she said. "I wouldn't marry him until he promised to let me go on with my exhibiting—and support me and my horses."

Cars Damaged In A Collision Friday Night

A Chevrolet coach and an Oldsmobile sedan collided at Main street and Missouri avenue, Friday evening. Both cars were badly damaged.

The Chevrolet was driven by William Hyde, 1020 South Monteau avenue, and was going north on Missouri avenue, while the Oldsmobile was driven by Mrs. M. D. Weathers and was headed east on Main street.

A report was made to the police.

Hitler Again Burns Books—This Time in London

Incendiary bombs and fire have gutted London's historic Holland House, but readers still trudge to its library. The famous London landmark on Kensington Road was built in 1607. Its library contains many books written by authors who once lived there, including Joseph Addison, founder of the Spectator, Sheridan, Sir Walter Scott and Lord Macaulay. Other famous residents were Oliver Cromwell and the Prince of Wales who later became George IV.

Roll Call For Red Cross Will Start Monday

medical supplies to the war zone areas where it has been most needed."

Differentiating from the needs of European war relief, Mr. McLaughlin stated that the Red Cross Call is held each year to support the national and local Red Cross organizations in their domestic operations. Funds realized at Roll Call time, he explained, will not be used for war relief, but to enable the Red Cross to continue its day-to-day operations in disaster relief, first aid, life saving, nursing and its assistance to the United States military and other programs.

Particular stress was laid on Red Cross operations for the U. S. military and other programs fitting into the national defense program. Last year when the army, navy and marine corps had skeletonized peacetime forces, the Red Cross aided more than 53,000 men in uniform with their social and economic problems. Today, with an army of more than 1,000,000 men imminent, the Red Cross will need heavy increases in membership to meet proportionate needs arising in its field offices in military posts, camps and naval stations.

World conditions have prompted the Red Cross to set up two new programs since last Roll Call. Mr. McLaughlin said more than 50,000 medical technologists have been circularized for the formation of a reserve corps being organized at the request of the U. S. Army Medical Corps. In addition, experimental studies are being made for a national "blood bank" which would furnish blood plasma to the U. S. military in time of emergency. The latter program, he said, was being run as a parallel project to a program of furnishing blood plasma to the British Red Cross for war victims.

Divorce Action Filed

A divorce petition was filed in the circuit court Saturday by Mrs. Rena Boatright against Fred Boatright. The petition, which alleged general indignities, stated they were married in Smithton, November 25, 1933.

Margin Held By Donnell 3,286 Over McDaniel

This was a lead of 2,008 for McDaniel.

A revised tabulation of partly official and partly unofficial county totals showed McDaniel carried 45 counties and the city of St. Louis, while Donnell carried 70 counties.

McDaniel, however, collected a majority of the absentee votes in 64 of the counties reported, although he dropepd the St. Louis city mail vote to the Republican. Donnell was favored by the away-from-home voters in 43 of the counties checked. In Knox county the absentee vote was split 19-19.

In Webster county a quarrel between opposing party factions, which led to a decision to leave the counting to the state, finally was patched up and the ballots were tabulated.

Donnell and his campaign managers reiterated that they believed he would finally go into office with a majority of about 3,000.

He will be in a position no other governor of Missouri has occupied since the election of the late Herbert S. Hadley who, in 1908, was the only Republican chosen on the state ticket.

Assessed Fine For Moving Bomb

LONDON, Nov. 9— (AP) — A neighborly sort of fellow, Frederick Leighton-Morris, 30, safely removed a time bomb from a West End apartment—and was fined 100 pounds (about $400) by a London court Friday for doing so.

Leighton-Morris, who said the auxiliary fire service rejected him because of his "groggy heart and 'wonky' lungs," found the bomb under the bed of a French officer who had moved into the next room and gone back to sleep without knowing the bomb was there.

The law says civilians must leave unexploded bombs to "suicide" units—the regular disposal squads.

Leighton-Morris said they'd turned him down, too, so he'd acted on his own.

Diesel Switch Engine Be Put in Service

The Missouri Pacific will place into operation in the Sedalia yards, at midnight tonight, a new Deisel switch engine, which will be used here thereafter.

Greeks Trap A Famed Division

ATHENS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Greek soldiers fighting stubbornly on home ground have halted the most serious Italian thrust so far offered by the invaders—a move down the western coast—and have hopelessly trapped a famed Italian division of perhaps 15,000 men, it was reported here tonight.

Greeks said the Italian Centaur division, one of the best known units of the Fascist forces, was so surrounded in the Pindus mountains that its surrender was imminent and that hundreds of the division's men and its commanding general already had been captured.

It was reported the Fascists were without food and their supply lines were out.

Authoritative circles said the Greeks were on the offensive on the mountainous front and were pushing the Italians back at several points.

LONDON, Nov. 10—(Sunday)—(AP)—Italy's crack Centaur division of 15,000 men trapped by Greek troops in the Pindus mountains were reported annihilated, a Reuters, British news agency, dispatch from Athens said today.

Two infantry regiments and one of artillery formed the Italian division cut off from the main Fascist forces.

A great number of the trapped men were reported to have been drowned in a flooded mountain gorge swollen by heavy rains, while others perished from hunger and cold, the dispatch said.

Transport Of British Bombed

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Bombing by German planes of the liner Empress of Japan, a British transport, about 300 miles west of Ireland was reported today by a correspondent of Domei, Japanese news agency.

The correspondent told of the attack in a wireless message to his New York office from the Japanese liner Fushimi Maru.

The Fushimi Maru had picked up an SOS from the Empress of Japan which said a direct hit had disabled her engines, the Domei correspondent said.

Domei said the attack occurred in latitude 53.54 north, longitude 14.14 west, approximately the same area where the 42,348-ton Empress of Britain, flagship of the Canadian Pacific's Atlantic fleet was crippled by German bombers Oct. 26 and sunk two days later by a Nazi submarine with a loss of 45 persons.

The Empress of Japan, former flagship of the Pacific fleet of the Canadian Pacific steamship company, was built in 1930, cost $7,500,000 and had accommodations for 1,212 passengers.

Hamilton Quits Post With GOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—John Hamilton resigned today as executive director of the Republican Natiaonal Committee, a post he has held since Joseph W. Martin became national chairman last July.

He gave no reason for his resignation in a letter to the committee. however, Martin, accepting the resignation, wrote that "I can appreciate fully your desire to retire and resume your business career.

Hamilton's letter asked that the resignation take effect immediately and told Martin that "I have enjoyed working with you as chairman."

Wendell Willkie announced the appointment of Martin as chairman a few weeks after the Philadelphia convention and at the same time said that Hamilton, who managed the 1936 campaign for Alf M. Landon, would serve as executive director. Hamilton's $25,000-a-year salary was continued, Martin serving without pay.

Hamilton had been active in the committee for five years, serving first as general counsel, then as chairman and finally as executive director.

Martin thanked him for "the splendid work you performed for the party in the campaign" and told him that "the party is further indebted to you for your gallant leadership in the dark days."

One Amendment Possibly Win

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The non-partisan court plan was the only one of the seven propositions voted on in last Tuesday's election which appeared headed for approval on the basis of unofficial returns from 2,716 of the state's 4,479 precincts.

The proposal, which would take the selection of Missouri's highest judges out of partisan politics, was winning by 81,136 votes. The court plans' companion measure, to change the basis of certification for initiative and referendum petitions, was behind but only by 821 votes.

The two road plans and an initiative proposition which would have substituted legislative game and fish laws for the present wild life code of the conservation commission were being snowed under.

The vote:

Proposition No. 1, to boost legislators' pay to $125 a month: Yes, 312,477; No, 367,187.

Proposition No. 2, to revise constitutional provisions for revision sessions of the legislature: Yes, 318,732; No, 333,893.

Proposition No. 3, non-partisan court plan: Yes, 375,622; No, 294,486.

Proposition No. 4, To fix the total vote for governor instead of the total vote for supreme court judge as the scale for initiative petitions: Yes, 324,857; No, 325,678.

Proposition No. 5, to discard the fish-game code; Yes, 234,406; No, 476,187.

Proposition No. 6, Painter road plan; Yes, 179,458; No, 496,882.

Proposition No. 7, Hirth road plan: Yes, 272,703; No, 437,923.

Expect Exchange Of Opinions

BERLIN, Nov. 9—(AP) — Soviet Russia's Premier-Foreign Commisar Vyacheslaff Molotoff was expected tonight to arrive here next Tuesday upon invitation of the German government "to continue and broaden the constant exchange of opinions" between Germany and Russia.

It was considered certain that Adolph Hitler personally will receive the visiting minister, who never before has traveled outside Russia, and engage him in a broad discussion of the war and its repercussions since Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop visited Moscow in August, 1939, to sign the non-aggression pact between the two countries.

Successor Be Up To The Governor

The appointment of a successor to Judge H. F. Fricke, Republican presiding judge of the county court, who passed away suddenly Friday evening, is made by the governor.

It is within the authority of the governor to appoint some one, Democrat or Republican as he desires, to fill the unexpired term of the judge, which will continue for two years and almost two months.

Proclaim Nov. 21 Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today proclaimed Thursday Nov. 21 as Thanksgiving day and declared that in these times of calamity and sorrow elsewhere in the world "may we give thanks to our preservation."

It was the second time the chief executive had set Thanksgiving a week earlier than the customary last Thursday in November, which this year falls on Nov. 28. In 1939 he said it was done to benefit merchants by providing a longer interval between the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Two thirds of the states have signified they will observe the Nov. 21 date this year. Governors of these 16 states have announced adherence to the traditional date—Nov. 28: Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Kansas, Iowa, Massachusetts, Maine, Nevada Oklahoma, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee and Vermont.

Aid Assurance Is Acclaimed

LONDON, Nov. 9—(AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill described the re-election of President Roosevelt and the assurance of greater aid from the United States as a message of "great encouragement and good cheer" today, but he left no doubt in British minds of the big job ahead.

And even as he spoke in praise of the Greeks and of the "succession of melancholy disasters and terrible assaults and perils" which Britain has suffered, there was noticeable in London an undercurrent of uneasiness over Turkey's position towards the Italian-Greek conflict.

In the first official expression of British satisfaction at the result of the United States election Tuesday, Churchill addressed a luncheon gathering which marked the elevation of a new Lord Mayor of London.

"We offer our heartfelt congratulations to President Roosevelt, who has received an unprecedented mark of American confidence in being chosen for the third time to lead his mightly people forward," Churchill said.

"We shall now receive the support of the products of the gigantic munitions productions and the matchless workshops, furnaces and foundaries of the American union."

"All parties in America," the prime minister declared, had proclaimed Britain's "successful resistance and final victory."

Elks To Have A Turkey Dinner

The Sedalia Lodge No. 125, B. P. O., Elks on Wednesday evening will hold its regular semi-monthly turkey dinner at the club for the members of the lodge. The dinners were formerly held on Thursday nights. They will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

The Elks are also completing plans for a public turkey shoot to be held on Sunday, November 17, for the purpose of obtaining funds for charity work done by the organization. The money will be used to purchase glasses.

Chamberlain Is Gravely Ill

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(Sunday)—(AP)—Mrs. Neville Chamberlain, wife of Britain's seriously ill former prime minister, was called suddenly to his bedside at midnight (5 p. m. C. S. T.)

Official word at 1 a. m. (6 p. m. C. S. T.) however, was that the condition of the man who led Britain through the Munich crisis and announced her entry into the war still was "unchanged."

Mrs. Chamberlain, who disclosed Friday that Chamberlain is gravely ill, had remained at the bedside of her 71-year-old husband until 9 p. m. when she left her husband throughout the afternoon and home to go eight miles to the village.

The urgent message called her back after only three hours of rest.

Sedalian's Leave Today for Rochester, Minn.

Rev. Arnold Be Rotary Speaker

Rev. Walter P. Arnold, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist church, an active member of the Americaan Legion, will be the guest speaker at the noonday meeting of the Rotary club, at Hotel Bothwell, Monday. The talk will be one appropriate for Armistice Day.

W. D. Smith is program chairman.

More new books were published by the British than by Americans in 1933.

LINCOLN

Celebration Of Birthday For Dr. Stratton

Dr. Richard H. Ray Called To Service In The U. S. Army

(By Maye Messersmith)

Mrs. J. O. Cordray was hostess at a Hallowe'en party at her home. Contract bridge was the diversion. Pumpkin jack-o-lanterns and fall flowers were used for decorations. Guests present were Mesdames Clarence Myers, Earl Friend, Harry Ordway, Loyd Merrifield, Porter Stoddard, Henry Hendrickson, Carter Oakes, and Miss Grace Wharton, all of Windsor. Guests from Lincoln were Misses Bertha Preul, Helen Wells and Ency Jamison. High score went to Mrs. Earl Friend for the club and the guest score to Miss Jamison.

Dr. and Mrs. S. O. Stratton had as their dinner guests last Sunday to celebrate the doctor's birthday, his brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Stratton of Lowery City, his sister, Mrs. Will Arnold and Mr. Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Arnold, all of Hughesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Labahn. Afternoon guests were Mrs. Carl Moor and children.

Relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wenig and daughter last Friday evening and surprised Mr. Wenig on his birthday anniversary. Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kreissler and Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sigman, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kreissler and Neoma, Misses Johanna and Pauline Kreissler, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schenewark, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Eken, Ervin Kreissler, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Mueller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hass and family, Adolph Hass, Mr. and Mrs. Claus Goosen and August Jaekel.

Miss Sarah Hayworth and brother, Willard, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wissman and family, near Warrensburg.

Herman C. Gerken was taken to Kansas City Tuesday, where he entered a hospital and underwent an operation on Thursday morning.

Miss Armeline Bochmer, attending a beauty academy in Kansas City, spent Sunday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bochmer and family.

Mrs. Bertha Martens of Jefferson, Iowa, Mrs. Carrie Graban and Mrs. Fred Graban of Cole Camp called last Friday morning on Miss Maye Messersmith as they were on the way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claus Meyer, south of town, where they were dinner guests.

A communication was received here recently stating that Dr. Richard H. Ray had been called as a staff physician in the regular army and is now located at Fort Benning, Georgia. Mr. and Mrs. Ray are former Lincoln residents.

WE'RE CELEBRATING OUR 3rd ANNIVERSARY IN OUR NEWLY REMODELED PLANT!

Henry Blaine, owner and manager of the Sedalia Mill Products Co.

Thank You, Central Missourians—

We have much to be thankful for on this our Third Anniversary. It has been through the continued patronage of our first friends, and the addition of many hundreds of new customers and friends throughout Central Missouri's farming and trading area that we have been able to make progress toward our goal . . . that of creating the best market in Missouri for all of the grain, seed, poultry, eggs and cream produced by the farming people in this territory.

We know that the farmer cannot feed freight out of feed, and realizing this we set out to establish a great Central Missouri market when we first opened our plant three years ago. Since our inception, we have purchased at the highest market price the grain which the farmer had to sell, and we have manufactured this grain into balanced feed rations which we have sold at the lowest possible market price.

Recently we have completely remodeled our plant to serve our customers more quickly and efficiently. During the past three years we have added many new members to our force as business increases made it necessary, until today we have sixteen full time employees to serve you.

Your splendid patronage, Central Missourian's, has been indeed gratifying. We know that you appreciate the market we have created, and we want you to know that we are indeed grateful for your part in helping to build this institution.

Engagement Of Miss Leazer Announced

Mrs. Faxon Has Party Friday For New Resident Here

The Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Leazer announcement the engagement of their daughter, Roberta, to William Keith Holland of Grove, Okla., son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Holland of Tahlequah, Okla.

Mrs. Frank Faxon entertained Friday night at her home, 215 East Broadway, with a dessert bridge, honoring Mrs. William Such, a new Sedalia resident.

Mrs. Such and her husband, both formerly of Monett, moved here two months ago from St. Louis.

Demi-tasse and dessert were served from the dining room table centered with a bouquet of pastel flowers with lighted white candles on either side.

There were two tables of bridge and a group of eight guests played Liverpool rummy. The first award for bridge was won by Miss Mary Louise McLaughlin and Miss Virginia Wilkerson received consolation. In the rummy game Mrs. Herbert Studer was the winner and Mrs. Dick Van Dyne received the consolation favor. A guest gift was presented to the honoree of the evening.

Mrs. Faxon's guests were Mrs. Such, Mrs. Lewis P. Andrews Jr., Mrs. William Staley, Mrs. Jack Ridgeway, Mrs. Harvey L. Keens, Mrs. John Staley, Mrs. Fred Van Arsdale, Mrs. Robert Paschall, Mrs. Lester Estes, Mrs. Leslie Hall, Miss Vivian Valkenburg, Miss McLaughlin, Miss Wilkerson, Mrs. Studer and Mrs. Van Dyne.

North and south winners at the Country club bridge tournament Friday afternoon were Mrs. Burney Butler and Mrs. Stanley Breitweiser, while the high scores for east and west were won by Mrs. L. L. Ilgenfritz and Mrs. Frank Monroe.

The play Friday completed a series of five weekly tournaments, following 1 o'clock luncheons.

Plans for additional entertainments during the month of November are being made by the current social committee, of which Mrs. E. M. Stafford, Jr., is chairman.

Mrs. Barrett Emmert, of Hongkong, China, has sailed for the United States, on the President Coolidge and expects to land in San Francisco, Calif., November twentieth.

Mrs. Emmert, formerly Miss Grace Arnold Farley, of Sedalia, will come to this city to visit her father, E. B. Farley, 700 West Sixth street. She will then visit her son, Barrett Farley Emmert, who is attending school in Eaglebrook, Mass., and with other relatives in the east.

Five young hostesses, Margie Behrens, Anne Hurley, Mary Behen, Earleen Paxton and Juanita Bahner, entertained Friday night at a dancing party at the Sacred Heart hall. There were 94 guests.

Dancing started at 7:30 o'clock and during the evening punch and cookies were served.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bahner, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Behrens, Mrs. Earl Paxton, Mrs. Frank Behen and Mrs. Forrest Barnum.

Miss Estelle Jenkins is in charge of the program arrangements for the A. A. U. W. banquet to be given Thursday evening at Kueck's Tavern with Dr. Ruth L. Anderson, state president, as the honor guest. Assisting with the plans are Mrs. William R. Courtney and Mrs. Philip McLaughlin.

Miss Ruth Colvin and Miss Naomi Maddox entertained at Miss Colvin's home, 508 West Third street, Wednesday night, complimentary to Miss Lena Sanders, who left Saturday for Washington, D. C., where she has employment.

The guests played bingo during the evening, awards going to Miss Marian Laudenberger for high score and to Miss Roberta Leazer, for low.

Miss Sanders was presented with a gift by the guests, who were, Miss Lola Sutton, Miss Marian Laudenberger, Miss Ermil Lowrey, Miss Adela Lingle, Miss Roberta Leazer, Fred Arbogast, W. J. Kennedy, Miss Frances Colvin, William Colvin and the hostesses.

Betty Rose Cramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cramer, 701 West Fourth street, entertained a number of guests at her home on Thursday evening, on the occasion of her twelfth birthday.

Those attending were: Frank Armstrong, John Menefee, Juanita Bahner, Bobby Dick, Billy Dick, Gene Glick, Marjorie Courtney, Harriet Bertman, Mary Lou Adams, Dorothy Keck, Anne Hurley, Shirley McKelvey, Ruth Ann Keuper, Marjorie Behrens, Mary Behen, Bob Matthews, Linda Jones, Bill Menefee, Donald Janes, Bobby Boul and Billy Joe Glick.

Mrs. Ruth Riley, president of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club and Miss Hazel Palmer, past president and a member of the state board, have gone to New Orleans to attend a regional convention of the BPW club.

Miss Palmer is on the convention program.

Miss Caroline Cloney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Cloney, II, took part in the patriotic skit which the forth form presented in their traditional song contest last week at Hockaday school in Dallas. Her class won second prize.

Miss Cloney and her classmates composed one original song, wrote new lyrics for two other songs, and designed and made their own costumes. Miss Elizabeth Cobb was the sponsor.

Miss Cloney also took part last week in a three-day political education campaign at the school. Miss Virginia Waldo, history teacher, explained the electoral college. The school was divided into five precincts with judges and alternates appointed for each precinct, and copies of the ballot for presidential electors were secured. Six campaign speeches, three for Willkie and three for Roosevelt, were delivered Monday and the students voted on their official ballots Tuesday.

The Fortnightly Book club will meet at 2:15 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Ott, 318 West Fifth street. Mrs. Sid Condict will read from Anne Lindbergh's latest book, "The Wave of the Future."

Roll call will be seasonal quotations.

Miss Laura Broderson, daughter of Mrs. Martha Broderson, of Poplar Bluff and Robert Frazier, of Boonville, were married Sunday afternoon, November 3, at the home of her brother, Rev. W. C. Broderson, pastor of the Baptist church in Poplar Bluff.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Williamson, of Poplar Bluff, the latter a sister of the bride.

After a wedding trip to St. Louis they will be at home at 209 Third street, Boonville.

The bride was formerly of Otterville, where she has several brothers and sisters.

Hostess and Honoree

Mrs. Frank Faxon, left, and Mrs. William Such, who was Mrs. Faxon's guest of honor at a dessert-bridge party Friday night at her home, 215 East Broadway.

Plans were made for the circle Christmas party to be held at Mrs. A. H. Wilks on Wednesday, December 18th. Twenty-two members were present.

Dr. J. E. Cannaday was the guest speaker for the program, "Know Your Evergreens." He stated in part, "Unless one has been to Alaska or Newfoundland and seen the wonderful growth of evergreens in those regions he has no idea of the beauty of such evergreens. They grow in acid soil and we in this country can supply that acid condition by mulching with decayed oak leaves.

"The term evergreen is applied to plants which hold their foliage from season to season often for a long period of time. Evergreens may be conveniently divided into two classes; the conifers, or narrow leaved evergreen, plants with needle-like, scale-like or flat leaves; and the broad-leaved evergreens. There are ten broad leaved evergreens that are used extensively in landscaping.

"The evergreen that is best adapted for all plantings in Missouri is Juniperus Virginiana, our native red cedar. There are forty varieties of junipers, all of which will do well in this section. Evergreens may be planted safely when the temperature is 50 degrees Fahrenheit or below, providing the roots are protected with wet straw and not kept out of the ground more than 3 or 4 hours."

Dr. Cannaday urged that all

Mrs. Seifert Will Review Current Play

Mrs. Herbert Seifert, Sedalia's accomplished play reviewer, will read Robert Sherwood's stirring drama, "There Shall Be No Night," Monday afternoon at the Sorosis meeting at the Heard Memorial clubhouse.

The play concerns the Russian invasion of Finland and centers around the lives of Dr. Valkonen, a Finnish scientist and his wife, Miranda. The roles were created by the famous Alfred Lunt and his wife, Lynn Fontanne, who are soon to leave New York to tour the country in the Theater Guild production.

In January of 1940, Sherwood, twice a Pulitzer award winner, felt the need to lift his voice in protest of the escapism thought in our country toward critical events in the world and under constant pressure for fear the theme of his drama would become cut of date, wrote, "There Shall Be No Night." The Finnish-Russo was being fought as the play was in rehearsal.

The play opened on April 29, 1940, in New York, after a week's tryout in Washington, D. C. After a successful run the production closed during the summer and reopened in September.

Sherwood is one of America's most outstanding playwrights and it was his play, "Idiot's Delight," which presented several years ago a fanciful setting of war in Europe, much as it has come about. This drama and a later one, "Abe Lincoln In Illinois," which Mrs. Seifert reviewed at Sorosis two seasons ago, won him the coveted Pulitzer awards.

Shortly after the opening of "There Shall Be No Night," the dramatist headed a committee for Finnish relief. He is a world traveler and enlisted with the Canadian army and served overseas before the United States entered World War 1.

The program Monday afternoon is being presented by the Art and Drama department of Sorosis of which Mrs. A. J. Campbell is the chairman.

Mrs. Seifert received a copy of the play direct from the publishers in order to review the current stage success.

Mrs. Hill Again Heads Church Council Groups

Pageant Feature At All-Day Meeting On Friday Night

The 24th annual convention of the Pettis County Council of Religious Education, which was held all day Friday at the First Christian church was an outstanding religious event of the year. Thirty-four churches in the city and county were represented, and the three sessions were interesting and constructive as well as informative, built around the "Christian Challenge to the Modern World" and, embracing the various classification of the church's responsibility to the child, teen age, youth, and adult groups. Special convention musicians were Mrs. Arthur Bratton, Miss Lillian Fox, Miss Roberta Leazer, Mrs. Charles Farley, and Rev. Ralph Hurd.

Mr. H. W. Becker of St. Louis, secretary of the Missouri council, and very well known in Sedalia was a guest of the convention and a fine exponent of the principles of the council. His advice and addresses throughout the conference and his leadership in various discussions were outstanding and helpful as plans were laid to meet the Christian challenge right here in Sedalia and Pettis county.

The annual banquet was a great success with its theme "Let There Be Light" carried out in minute details. The Boys' choir from the Mark Twain school made a great hit as they sang with beautiful harmony. Each of the speakers were complimented upon their splendid addresses. Mrs. A. G. Hausam's youth quartette from the First Methodist church, accompanied by Mrs. A. R. Beach, sang beautifully.

Pageant Is Given

The pageant, "Visions of America," written by Mrs. H. L. Hill of Smithton, completed the day's program in an enjoyable climax. Before a large audience, 200 young people of Smithton took part, portraying the birth, development, and progress of our great country. The music, with Mrs. H. O. Foraker at the pipe organ and a large chorus of Smithton and Sedalia singers gave a finished musical setting for the play.

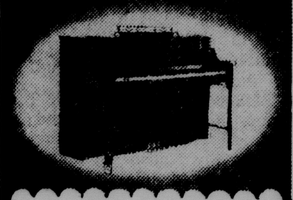

Mesdames G. W. Anderson and J. C. Saunders were registrars and according to their registration report, of the 34 churches represented at the conference, the following ranked as to attendance, presence of the pastor and Sunday school superintendent:

1. First Methodist church, Sedalia.
2. Methodist church of Smithton.
3. Congregational-Presbyterian church, Sedalia.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected and installed:

President, Mrs. H. L. Hill, Smithton; vice-president, Judge Dimmitt Hoffman, Sedalia; secretary, Mrs. Berry Elliott, Hughesville; treasurer, Judge Malcolm Scott, LaMonte; adult superintendent, Mrs. A. McNeish, Longwood; drama and music superintendent, Mrs. Frank S. Leach, Sedalia; administration, Rev. E. B. Brown, Houstonia; young people, Rev. O. J. Rumpf, Sedalia; co-ordination, Rev. John Vander Meulen, Jr., Sedalia; librarian, Mrs. C. V. Jones, Longwood.

Restrained elegance, with interest focussed on the shoulder treatments marks the attractive evening and dinner gowns Brenda Marshall wears, above. The off-the-shoulder evening gown, left, is of flat black crepe, with a shirred yoke of flesh-colored souffle. The same warm, pink tone is repeated in the pearls of the twin accessories, necklace and bracelet. The dinner dress, right, combines black sable net with Alix jersey in flesh; the huge water-lily deepens to rose at the center.

evergreens be given a thorough watering at this time before the ground becomes frozen.

Evergreens, he said, must be constantly watched and treated for red spider and bagworms. Evergreen planting may be pruned or made into formal designs in late June and September. When trimming junipers to design one should not stand too close to the tree as good balance of design may be ruined.

Circle No. 5 met Friday afternoon for one o'clock with Mrs. Clarence Dow. Mrs. Arthur Griffey and Mrs. W. R. Sterling were assistant hostesses. Guests were Miss Lucy Bothwell, Mrs. John Rodeman and Mrs. Roscoe Ryckman.

Mrs. J. N. Keens conducted the short business session.

Miss Lucy Bothwell spoke on "Know Your Evergreens," She classified them as conifers, those which bear cones and junipers, those which bear berries. She then described the characteristics which distinguish the different varieties, the slow germination of seeds, manner of growth and usefulness. This was made very interesting by her vivid description of heather, yews and pines as she has seen them in different parts of the world. She also told several legends and answered a great many questions.

Mrs. Harry Stober read a paper prepared by Mrs. H. A. Nxion which stressed the need to know the growing habits of evergreens before using them for landscaping.

Circle No. 6 met Friday at the home of Mrs. Joe Williams, 1714 West Sixteenth street.

Seventeen members attended and three guests, Mrs. C. H. Brady Mrs. Allen Williams and Mrs. Bill Helman.

Mrs. W. W. Hocker presided over the business meeting, which followed a dessert luncheon.

In the absence of the program chairman, Mrs. E. B. McNeil was in charge of the program.

The topic was "Stories And Legend of Flowers."

The exhibit for the month went to Mrs. Paul Dent.

The assisting hostesses were Mrs. P. E. Pierce and Mrs. Paul Dent.

Two Passes And A Line Plunge Are Used For Scores

Colorado Scores First Missouri Wastes No Time In Retaliating

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 0—(AP)—"Dr." Paul Christman, a specialist in the art of throwing a football to the right places, set up his first clinic in the mountain country today and made Colorado foot the bill: Missouri 21, Colorado 6.

The big blond from St. Louis showed himself something of a general practitioner too. Besides throwing two passes for touchdowns, he scored another on a nine yard zig-zagging run off tackle.

The crowd of 10,000 saw a 7-6 ball game until the third period and watched Colorado's Big Seven champions get a touchdown jump on the Big Six team.

A fine 55-yard punt by Don Lockard, Colorado halfback, put Missouri back to its five in the second quarter.

Standing deep in his end zone Christman, with calm detachment, threw three passes in a row, all incomplete. Then halfback Don Greenwood punted only 23 yards.

Leo Stasica, Colorado's all-conference back and leading Big Seven scorer, tossed two good passes to halfback Vern Miller and punched right tackle for the marker.

Down six points, Missouri went to work to cover 72 yards for its first touchdown near the end of the half.

The ball was on Colorado's 27 when Christman whipped a high one to left end Bob Steuber for the touchdown. Bill Cunningham came in to place kick the point that put the Tigers in front.

Missouri's second touchdown, which Christman scored, was the reward for a 73-yard drive. The Missouri star dodged four or five C. U. players in dashing the last nine yards.

Pitching Paul turned catcher to blaze the way for the third score. Stealing a Colorado pass on the enemy 45, he slammed through left guard for 10 yards, then passed to Jack Lister on the Colorado eight. Christman followed with a flanker pass to Harry Ice for the gift touchdown.

Paul wound up his 56 minutes of play with an output of 75 yards on 14 scrimmage runs and 11 pass completions in 22 throws for 151 yards.

Lineups and summary:

Kentucky Defeats The Injured Georgia Tech

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9—(AP)—Georgia Tech's injury-riddled Engineers bowed to Kentucky's powerful running attack today, 26 to 7.

The Wildcats got off to a two-touchdown lead in the first period and punched out another pair in the second half.

It was Kentucky's first Southeastern conference victory in four starts this season and its first triumph over the Tech eleven in five years.

Columbia Pulls One Out Of The Hat 7-6

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—(AP)—Lou Little's Columbia football Lions pulled another one out of the hat today.

Just about the time everyone in the crowd of 20,000 fans were becoming convinced that Wisconsin's Badgers had the ball game safely on ice, Lion opportunists scored a four quarter touchdown on a blocked kick, added the point and pulled out a 7 to 6 upset.

Joe Siegal, 175-pound youngster, grabbed the loose ball after Ray Makofske had blocked the punt, and galloped 18 yards to the touchdown that tied up the ball game. Then sure-toe Len Will booted the point and school was out.

Iowa State Eked Out On Drake 7 To 6

O'Connor Scores For Drake On A 65-Yard Run In 1st Quarter

AMES, Ia., Nov. 9—(AP)—Iowa State eked out a close one over Drake, 7 to 6, today, on Halfback Paul Darling's point after touchdown in the second quarter of a soggy battle.

Playing in the rain, Drake advanced three times into Cyclone territory in the first quarter before Walter O'Connor, speedy halfback, grabbed a punt on his own 35 and scampered down the sidelines all the way to the Cyclone 5.

O'Connor raced across the goal unmolested on a fake reverse. Tex Switzer, fullback, missed the try for point.

Starting on their own 44, the Cyclones scored in the second period. On a 33-yard dash by Quarterback Larry Owens, a line smash and Fullback Hank Wilder's wide sweep around right end.

The extra point beat the Bulldogs.

Kansas City Star Boxers To Fight

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Nov. 9—(Special)—Stars of Kansas City's boxing field appear against well-rated invaders on a big triple windup program, staged by promoter John Antonello under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, No. 527, in the Municipal auditorium next Thursday night.

Heading the big card are Chester Ellis, senational young Indian featherweight against Stanley Novak, Omaha; Harry Mills, undefeated welterweight against Alcaster, Bartlesville, Okla., and Pat Kissinger versus Mike Dundee, Chicago.

All bouts are scheduled over the ten round distance. Such heavy punchers will display their wares that it will be no surprise if knockouts are plentiful.

Bright ring futures are forecast for both Ellis and Mills, while the colorful fighting qualities of Kissinger are well known to all fight fans in this area. Against Novak, Ellis is certain to be thoroughly extended as the blonde Polish Nebraska bombarder has fought more than sixty savage ring battles. Alcanter owns the Oklahoma welterweight title and will prove a formidable test for Mills. The latter gained a victory over Kissinger in his last Auditorium appearance ten days ago. As for Dundee, the Chicago Italian-Irish scrapper declares he will hand Kissinger the most decisive setback in the Irishman's career. Popular prices are in effect. Two more attractive bouts will be arranged by matchmaker Tom McHugh.

Cape And Rolla In Tie Game Saturday

ROLLA, Mo., Nov. 9—(AP)—The Cape Girardeau Teachers and Missouri School of Mines each counted a touchdown and extra point in the first four minutes of play, then got nowhere the remainder of the way in a M. I. A. game here today. The deadlocked score was 7 to 7.

Capt. Dick Cunningham of the Miners grabbed the opening kickoff and raced 90 yards for a touchdown. A few plays later, Crews passed 23 yards to Branch for the Indians' score.

The Miners threatened three times in the final quarter while Cape's sole bid, a field goal attempt, was blocked.

The contest was played in a drizzling rain.

The sergeant-major fish is so named because of its stripes.

Huskers Win Over Iowa By A Score 14-6

Bill Green, Iowa, Best Ball Player In Game But Was The Goat

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 9—(AP)—Two sets of big powerful Nebraska linemen stalled Iowa every step of the way and tore big holes in the Hawkeyes barricade today as the Huskers took a 14 to 6 football victory over the invading Hawkeyes.

It was that line that gave Herman Rohrig and Harry Hopp all the time in the world to throw the passes that set up the Nebraska touchdowns and it was that line that rose up to stifle the Iowa running attack and rush the passers when the Hawkeyes made their few threats.

At that, Iowa had the best ball player in the game in Bill Green, fullback, who ran the ends, drove at the middle and caught passes. Still, Green was the goat of the game, witnessed by 26,000 fans.

It was in the first period after Rohrig quick kicked 70 yards to the Iowa 10 that Bill found Lady Luck frowning on hhim. He had driven five yards through tackle when he fumbled, Forrest Behm recovering for the Huskers on the Hawkeye 15.

First Rohrig passed to Walter Luther to put the ball on the seven, then he drove over tackle to the six. Then Nebraska called on Vike Francis, who, moving like a tank through a big hole in the center of the Iowa line, drove for the initial score. Rohrig made it 7 to 0 with a perfect placekick.

As the first quarter drew to an end Nebraska started a drive from the Husker 18 and moved down the field to a second period touchdown that sewed up the game. With the ball on Iowa 38, Hopp, on the third play of the second quarter, passed to Luther who took the ball on the 25 and ran to the three before being bumped out. It took Wayne Blue, in for Francis, three punches at the middle to get the score. Tackle Vic Schleich kicked the point and Nebraska led, 14 to 0.

Washington U. Bows To V. M. I. By 20-13

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9—(AP)—Virginia Military Institute's football team marched like soldiers do—on the ground—and their attack overcame the harassment of Washington university's aerial offense today as the Cadets took a 20 to 13 decision in the rain.

Wilson (Bud) Schwenk, Washington's all-Missouri Valley conference back, threw 21 passes and completed 10 for a total gain of 227 yards. But Joe Muha, Jim Shelby and the other VMI backs traveled even faster through the Bears' battered line.

Muha scored twice in the second period as the Cadets drove 62 and 57 yards.

VMI's clincher came in the third period on a 59-yard procession after Muha intercepted a pass. Shelby Went the last 16 yards untouched for the score. Nelson Catlett made good on the last two place kicks for extra points.

Schwenk's passes were the only thing that kept Washington in the ball game. The Bears found the Cadets' heavy line much too tough. Schwenk passed to Wallace MacLean, reserve end, for one tally and scored the other himself from the 1-yard line after two of his completed passes netted 89 yards.

Springfield Bears Conference Leaders

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Springfield Bears, by defeating the Warrensburg Mules 13 to 0 Friday, reign supreme in the MIAA conference for the first time since 1928.

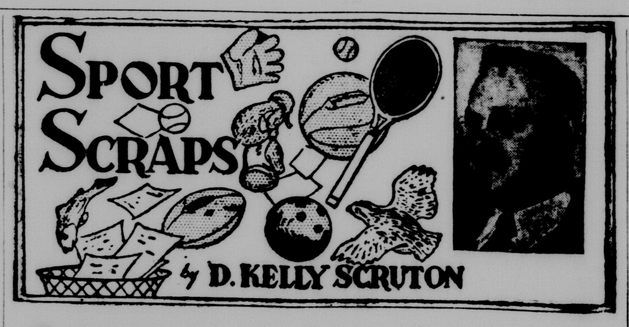

About 4000 football fans sat in a chilly breeze to watch coach Howard Blair's crafty gridders score a clean victory over the much heavier Mule team.

It was ironical that the Bears should defeat their more rugged opponents by a 13 to 0 score. For the past two years both teams have played 13 to 13 deadlocks. The Mules had the ball on Springfield's one yard line in the first quarter but failed to score.

The Bears scored in the second and third quarters, Guy Brashear and Dean George showing the way. Brashear plunged over in the second quarter for the first tally and then in the third period intercepted Appleman's pass on the Mule 15 yard stripe and picking up Kaminsky for interference, skirted down the sidelines to score.

Brown Trips The Army Before Record Crowd

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 9—(AP)—The third largest crowd in Michie Stadium history, 25,000, today saw Brown trip ill-fated Army, 13 to 9, on a last period touchdown pass from Quarterback Ernie Savignano to Johnny Marsolini.

Quail season opens today. But you sportsmen should be sportsmen and not "hogs." I mean don't try and beat the hunting laws of Missouri and endeavor to see how many quail you can kill. Just get your bag limit. And if your fellow hunter can't get his own let him do without. In just plain old English "give the birds an equal chance."

According to experts, quail this year are plentiful and as one sportsman said, "the crop's good." A check by the Conservation Commission shows the quail population is better than 1939 which year was considered the best since the Commission took over the State Hunting and Fishing laws of Missouri. Needless to say the "clamping down" by the commission on the "hog" hunters has been a great help in bringing back the quail to Missouri's fields.

Many fine dogs will be seen in the fields today and this week with every dog owner and hunter doing his or her best to get in on the early hunting. The season will remain open until December 31.

The weather man predicts the opening day will be ideal for hunting. In accordance with the predictions there were occasional showers Saturday, clearing up early today, and somewhat colder. Weather conditions are such the dog's nose will be keen and the coolness of the weather will put pep into them.

Just a warning. I am well informed the Conservation Commission will take measures as was done in 1939 and 1938 in enforcing the law. The Conservation Commission agents have already announced they are going to have rigid enforcement of the laws and "cheating" will not be tolerated.

I expect to hear of agents being on the highways this evening stopping all automobiles with hunters in them and conducting a search for those who have violated the law by having more than the ten-bird limit the first day, and for hunting without licenses, and not having "plugs" in their guns.

Those who get caught can expect to receive their just publicity through the columns of the press.

Harry Smith, former Missouri Boy who made the 1939 All-American football teams, scored again this past week. Harry was chosen by "Pop" Warner on his All-Time, All-American football team. This, to me, is one of the greatest honors to be bestowed upon any youth of the present day. Harry played guard on that outstanding Southern California Trojan team in 1939.

"Pop" Warner in deciding to pick his team chose the best he has seen play since 1889. Two players who played in the last decade are Ernie Smith and Harry Smith, both of Southern California.

He paid tribute to Jim Thorpe, Carlisle 1912, Bob Peck, Pittsburgh, 1915 and Ernie Nevers, Stanford, 1925.

He says of Harry Smith: "I don't know of any man I'd rather have than Harry Smith of last year's U. S. C. team."

His team:

Ends—Frank Hinkey, Yale, 1892; Brick Muller, California, 1921.

Tackles—"Fat" Henry, Washington and Jefferson, 1919; Ernie Smith, Southern California, 1930.

Guards—"Pudge" Hefflefinger, Yale, 1889; Harry Smith, Southern California, 1939.

Center—Bob Peck, Pittsburgh, 1915.

Backs—Jim Thorpe, Carlisle, 1912; Willie Heston, Michigan, 1904; Red Grange, Illinois, 1925; Ernie Nevers, Stanford, 1925.

May I add, from what I have heard said of Sedalia's own Harry Sinnett, who played at the University of Missouri some years back, he would be entitled to a position on any man's All-Time, All-American team. The old timers give me the information, Mr. Sinnett has the distinction of playing end, and during his entire career at the university, not one yard was gained around his end.

To me, I think that is a record that no other football player ever held. It is authentic, as it has been checked. He was considered the smallest player on the team, but had everything it took to play football in those tough days.

Asked if this were true, Mr. Sinnett had little to say other than to give most of the credit to about ten other players on the team. However he did verify the fact no yards were gained to his knowledge around his side of the line.

"But" he said," we had a dran good football team and one of the best in the country in those days. We had a team that clicked and every player was helping the other hold to his records."

You know I personally feel sorry for Sedalia's football fans. So much criticism was passed and piled upon Coach Don Davenport last year because the team did not do everything expected of them, then a change came. Still Smith-Cotton's Tigers don't seem to click. In fact the first quarter of the Jefferson City game they looked worse than any time this season.

Now Coach Benson is getting the hammer. Benson and Davenport are as good coaches as any high school in Missouri has. They both know their stuff, but it seems Smith-Cotton's players just won't click, they lay down on the job until the half rolls around and a hot speech has to be delivered by the coach, then they come out fighting.

I am not saying all of the players are laying down on the job, because there are several of the boys who are putting everything they have into the game—BUT I DO SAY THERE ARE SEVERAL PLAYERS who should either turn in their suits and get off the team or settle down and play the game. Yes, even if there is just one more game left to be played.

The boys responded to Benson's instructions the first of the season. They played great football, but against M.M.A. they played bang-up football the first three quarters. The fourth quarter, they began to get careless and since that time they have shown no desire to overcome this carelessness.

After the Jefferson City game I remarked, "They gave Davenport H - - , now what are they going to say about Benson." It seemed a player or two have guilty consciences, as they even went so far as to threaten this writer. Boys, what have you to say—why don't you play football instead of worrying over what is going to be said about you.

I still contend Benson and Davenport are good coaches and are as good as any school has in Missouri—but it is the players' fault—not the coaches, that the delivery is lacking.

So. Carolina Wins From Kansas State

Sensation-Jammed Game As Wildcats Lose By Score 20-13

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 9—(AP)—The South Carolina Gamecocks sank their spurs into the Kansas State Wildcats today to win a sensation-jammed 20 to 13 victory before a crowd of 11,000.

The Gamecocks scored in the second quarter on a nine-yard pass from Al Grygo to Harvey Blouin. Dutch Elston's placement try was blocked but Grygo raced back to the 25, grabbed the bounding ball and ran over the goal as his mates blocked out the bewildered Wildcats.

Kansas State marched from its own 35 to count. Bill Quick and Lyle Wilkins lugged the ball to the Carolina 26, from where Quick passed to Jim Watkins and the big end raced across the goal and Bernard Weiner's placement attempt was blocked.

The Gamecocks scored their second touchdown early in the second half with a Grygo to Alex Urban pass. Elston's placement was good. The Wildcats again snapped right back as Lewis Turner, Art Kirk and Chris Langvardt ripped the Gamecock line to shreds on power plays in an uninterrupted 80-yard advance.

Langvardt, who later was seriously hurt and removed from the field in an ambulance, went the last 18 yards around left end behind superb blocking and Weiner converted.

The final period had hardly begun when Grygo faded back from his 35 and tossed to Urban, who raced for the touchdown. Elston's placement kick failed.

Notre Dame Has Narrow Escape In Naval Battle

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9—(AP)—Scoring on a 32-yard pass play in the first period and on a seven-yard end run by Bob Saggau late in the final period, Notre Dame defeated Navy before 63,000 spectators at Municipal Stadium today, 13 to 7. Navy took a brief 7 to 6 lead midway in the final quarter on Wes Gebert's 30-yard run from scrimmage and Bob Leonard's successful place kick.

Northwestern On A Wild Spree, Defeating Illinois

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 9—(AP)—A wild scoring spree in the final period gave Northwestern a 32 to 14 victory over Illinois today before 35,000 spectators, the Wildcats pouring across three touchdowns after trailing earlier in the game.

Oregon Won First Conference Game

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 9—(AP)—The University of Oregon won its first Pacific Coast conference game of the 1940 season today, smothering the University of California at Los Angeles, 18 to 0. The Webfoots turned in their best game of the year on a swampy field before a homecoming crowd of 8,000.

S. M. U. Overpowered By Texas Aggies

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 9—(AP)—Irrespressible John Alec Kimbrough and the marauding Texas Aggies blew through the mud, the rain and Southern Methodist today to nail down their eighteenth successive football triumph, 19-7.

Just as advertised, the Methodists, unbeaten themselves until this afternoon's spectacular scrap, didn't give in until the final four minutes when the Cadets wrapped up their ball game with a sorely needed third touchdown by Bill Conatser.

First it was Kimbrough, then it was Conatser as the Aggies inched on towards football immortality.

Twenty-two times Kimbrough burrowed through the Methodist line, gainging 103 yards and personally accounting for the Aggies' second touchdown with a one-man assault of 30 yards on eight consecutive carries.

Smith-Cotton Alumni Will Play Clinton

'Old Timers' Take To Gridiron Wearing The Gold-Black Colors

Smith-Cotton high school fans who have been following the local grid teams for the past few years will have an opportunity to see some of the "old material" in action this afternoon.. Smith-Cotton's alumni football team will play the alumni team of Clinton on the Liberty Park gridiron at 2 o'clock.

Practically the entire squad of alumni players have been in training and are in good condition to play the Clinton aggregation. This contest will be the first of a series of two games. A return game to be played at Clinton later.

Among the visiting players will be two well known Clinton boys who have many friends in Sedalia. They are "Aggie" McMullin of the State Teachers College in Warrensburg and Dodd, who attends the University of Missouri.

Dolly Farris will take over the coaching duties.

Stanford Indians Hold Scalping On Washington

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 9—(AP)—The Stanford Indians, in a blazing drive, came from behind to defeat the University of Washington, 20 to 10, here today, in a game that probably will determine the Pacific Coast conference championship and the West's standard bearer in the Rose Bowl classic.

Mud Battle At Kansas But Sooners Win

Jayhawks Surprise Oklahoma; Visitors Take Score of 13-0

BY HAROLD CLAASEN

LAWRENCE, Kas., Nov. 9—(AP)—A pair of punt-hazy Big Six football teams sloshed up and down a muddy field for three and a half quarters today before Oklahoma struck twice to defeat Kansas, 13 to 0.

For more than three-fourths of the way, kicking the soggy ball was the best attack.

Then in the final period Oklahoma forgot that it was raining—even if the soaked 4,000 spectators couldn't.

A shovel pass behind the line of scrimmage from Huel Hamm to Orville Mathews, netted the first touchdown, and the same combination worked the slippery oval to scoring territory a few minutes later with Johnny Martin plunging from the 4.

Mathews one, of the Big Six's fastest men, swung around his own left end after catching the pass on the Kansas 41 and hiked for the west sidelines. A tremendous block by Marvin Whited opened up a passage way and the youngster splashed to the score.

Kansas, beaten 53 to 2 by Nebraska only three weeks ago, surprised by holding the rugged Sooners at bay until the final period. At the end of the first quarter Kansas took the ball on downs on it's own 1-foot line and again in the third, a fumble on the 3 helped them out.

Every time the Jayhawks got in too deep, the kicking of Don Pollom helped them out. It wasn't until he was benched with an injury at the start of the final session that Oklahoma could score.

However, it was the same way each time that Kansas dug into Oklahoma sod with Jack Jacobs, also injured and removed in the late stages, crashed booming punts down the field.

Officials were forced to dry the ball after most every play and Don Pierce, bespectacled Kansas center, spent half his time cleaning his glasses and the other half dumping Sooner ball carriers.

Michigan Bows To Minnesota 7-6

By EARL HILLIGAN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 9—(AP)—Michigan's citadel of football crashed in the mud and rain of Memorial Stadium today—leveled by mighty Minnesota on one sudden, story 80-yard charge by a great Gopher back, Bruce Smith.

Minnesota, racing on toward the Western conference title and a shot at national honors, won the battle, 7 to 6, before 63,894 rain-soaked spectators. And to win, the Gophers had to come from behind—doing just that on Smith's brilliant 80-yard touchdown sprint in the second period after Michigan had taken a six-point lead on a touchdown pass by Tom Harmon earlier in the quarter.

Smith's great game-breaking run, a remarkable performance on a turf soaked by a rain which fell throughout the duel, came with breath-taking suddeness late in the second period.

The Gophers, seconds after halting a Michigan touchdown bid, had possession on their own 20. On the first play Smith flashed off left tackle, swung toward the sidelines and was away for the touchdown which gave Minnesota its sixth straight win of the season and its seventh straight win over Michigan in this famed "little brown jug' 'series.

Substitute Joe Mernik, whose toe beat Northwestern last Saturday, calmly kicked the point after touchdown—and that was the game.

Michigan—with its brilliant Harmon still a great back in defeat—gave the victors one of the most stubborn battles they've ever had before bowing in defeat. The Wolverines, after they had gone ahead on Harmon's touchdown pass to Forest Evashevski and then watched Harmon miss the try for point by inches, never gave up.

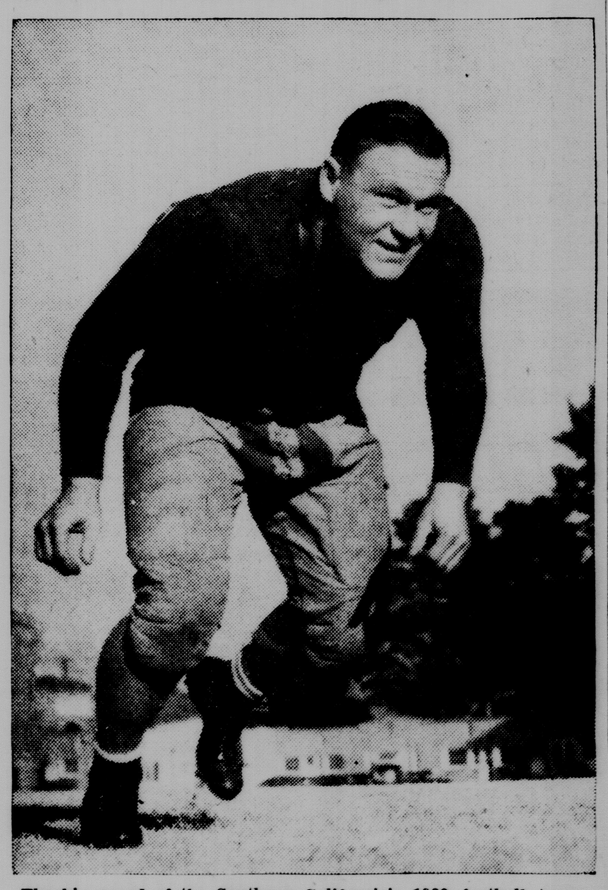

Texas Christian U. Is Defeated By Detroit, 3-0

DETROIT, Nov. 9—(AP)—Ted Pavelec, 208-pound tackle, made good one of three field goal attempts to provide the University of Detroit Titans with a 3 to 0 victory in their intersectional clash with Texas Christian uniteristy today.

The big lineman's placement boot sailed high and true through the crossbars from the 25-yard line with six minutes of play remaining in the final period after the Titans had bobbled numerous scoring opportunities.

Only a few seconds before, Detroit had driven deep into Texas Christian territory and Pavelec, with fourth down and eight yards to go, unsuccessfully attempted to break the deadlock with a placement from the 23-yard line.

All-Time, All-American Harry Smith

The big guard of the Southern California's 1939 football team, Harry Smith, was picked on "Pop" Warner's All-Time and All-American football team the past week. The picking was made only from players who have been seen in action by "Pop." Smith is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepherd, 1206 S. Massachusetts avenue. He has visited here with his aunt and uncle several times while living in Missouri. He is now playing professional football.

Better Homes Better Living

by the Housing Editor

The windows of a home are no longer viewed only as functional units. Today they are called upon to serve important architectural and decorative uses as well.

Architects today are achieving interesting results by placing a prominent window to frame a tree in a manner of a "living picture." Its changing pattern from spring to fall and throughout the winter makes for a scene that is always refreshing. Similarly pleasing effects are obtained if the surrounding landscape permits a view of a sweep of river, a winding creek, or even a broad expanse of rolling land.

Like so many other functional parts of a modern small house, windows today have improved considerably in design and construction.

Wisely chosen window designs improve the exterior appearance of the home and add cheer to the interior.

Among the wide variety of window styles from which the home builders can select are double-hung windows having sash which move up and down and casement windows whose sash are hinged at the side and open in or out. Bay windows are available in many sizes and attractive styles. Dormer windows can be used to lighten attics or bedrooms under the roof. Where wall space is at a premium the use of corner windows is often found advantageous.

Careful thought should be given the placing of the windows not only to obtain an attractive exterior appearance but also to assure sufficient wall spaces in the living rooms which will permit convenient placement of furniture. The glass area should be sufficient to insure good light and ventilation in proportion to the size and character of the room.

Piano Strings

There are about 222 strings in a grand piano. Twelve of the lowest keys have one string each, 20 or so have two strings, and the rest have three strings each.

A person of 150 pounds traveling in a car moving at 60 miles an hour has a momentum of about 13,200 foot pounds per second. If the car is suddenly stopped by a head-on crash, the momentum is about 10 times that of the average machine gun bullet.

An Attached Garage Is An Asset

There are many advantages in having the garage attached to the house, according to the Federal Housing Administration. Some of the advantages are illustrated in this picture. The house appears larger as a result of the increase in building mass, while convenience of use is increased and accessibility improved.

Since the garage is near the street, the driveway is short and its cost is reduced. Cost is a factor of importance when the garage is located in the rear of the lot and is served by a long driveway. Another advantage which the attached garage may claim is that it does not interfere with attractive development of the rear yard.

In this small house, the garage is attached by means of a covered hallway. The house appears much larger and is given a pleasing character by this arrangement.

Some states in an effort to reduce accidents on curves have erected markers that give the motorists the recommended safe driving speeds for taking the curves.

Storage Places For Provisions

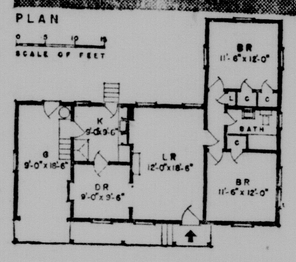

One of the many factors which aid in the rehabilitation of rural families has been brought to the attention of the Farm and Home supervisors of Pettis county several times recently. Although no farm home should be without a cellar or cave, many women are forced to keep their canned goods in a closet, or even in boxes stacked around the stove. Then there is often danger of freezing and consequent loss of food and valuable jars. The Farm Security Administration recommends that farm families can eighty quarts of food per person, and store potatoes, fruits and other vegetables as well. With a family of five, that has canned sufficient food for their use, lack of storage space is a problem. Farm Security encourages farm families to build some type of food storage place.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Reed, who live south of Green Ridge, are completing an outdoor cave made of logs. The cave is about five feet below ground and is walled up the sides with logs. To finish the roof of the cellar, he has placed a ridgepole lengthwise and will lay short logs from the walls to the ridgepole. This will then be covered with dirt, and the cellar floor covered with gravel. After shelves and bins are built, the Reeds will have taken one more step to rehabilitation by providing themselves with a most satisfactory storage space at very little cost.

During the first eight months of 1940, there have been 20,640 motor vehicle deaths in the United States as compared to 19,280 during the same period of 1939.

Complete Home For Small Family Is This 5-Room Cottage

Here is a complete home for a family of modest size. Containing two bedrooms, a good-sized living room, separate dining room, kitchen, and garage, this home offers no startling architectural innovations but should provide a pleasant place in which to live.

The exterior of this home is informal and unpretentious. The walkway to the garage and the front-entrance stoop are wisely protected by an extension of the roof, a convenience made doubly desirable by the fact that the front door opens directly into the living room.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of this house lies in the financing. This property, valued at $3,600, was financed with a mortgage of $3,200 insured by the Federal Housing Administration. Monthly payments on a 25-year mortgage of this amount, exclusive of taxes and hazard insurance, amount to approximately $19.

New Auxiliary Prison In Use

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 9—(AP) They've finally opened the doors of Missouri's $875,000 auxiliary prison which lay idle for 18 months while officials debated on how it should be lighted and for what purpose it should be used.

An advance guard of nearly 200 convicts is housed now in the new institution eight miles west of town, and Penal Director Grover C. Clevenger hopes to send more out there soon.

Its capacity is 640 but there is not enough work available now to keep that many convicts busy, Clevenger said. A rock quarry and "finishing" work on the plant and its grounds provide the only employment at present. However, summer will open farming work for the prisoners and the quarry is to be enlarged.

Originally planned as an "outgoing prison" for final rehabilitation of convicts about to be released, the building now will be used merely as an "auxiliary" to the main prison—its occupants chosen without more than casual regard for their "time left to serve."

Opening of the new institution is the final step in a bond-financed building program begun three years ago to relieve over-crowding at the main prison.

Expensive

More than a million dollars is required to operate a first-class battleship one year, including pay, clothing, victuals, and repairs, submarines of the smaller type cost $135,000 annually for operating expenses.

Goal To Go

By W. H. PEARS

Copyright 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER I

AT three minutes of 10, Bill Mentor stripped off his white apron and dashed for the door of the drug store. Old Julius Peskin darted from the back room like a spider after a fly.

"So now, Mentor, you pick your own quitting time?" His dry, thin voice quivered. "You're paid to work from 4 until 10, not when the spirit moves you."

"But tonight's the first game of the season, Mr. Peskin. I'd like to see a few minutes of the last quarter." From nearly six feet up Bill watched the putty-colored bald spot on the little man's head turn crimson. "I've swept out and—"

"Slap things up in a hurry," Peskin grumbled. "If it wasn't for the ill-will I'd gain around the school, I'd yank my son Walton off the team and put him in your place here."

"Yes, sir," Bill said, edging toward the door. "It's 10 o'clock now, Mr. Peskin."

Peskin looked satisfied at having gained his rightful time, even in talk. "Go ahead," he snapped.

BILL was on his bicycle before the door slammed. He streaked through the clear autumn night, broad shoulders hunched over the handlebars, legs driving like pistons. Crossing Market street he saw a wide halo of light against the sky. He heard distant cheering and his heart leaped in response. The game was still on!

Bill sliced between parked cars, skidded to a stop. Inside City Stadium he could hear the rising chant of a "Yea-a-a, team!" Applause spattered, followed by the abrupt silence that precedes play.

Running up the ramp, Bill caught a black glimpse of the scoreboard: VISITORS, 6; WEST 0!

Illustrated by G. P. Whitford

The West end grabbed the ball . . . was knocked out on the Benton 25. A deafening roar went up from the stands.

Down on the cleat-chewed sward the West boys were in a huddle, their jerseys making a huge crimson blossom against the green turf.

"Bill, here I am!" Helen Welch ran toward him, waving. Her chestnut curls were windblown and adorned with a crimson ribbon to match her short skirt. Slim, eager, she said, "I was afraid you wouldn't get here."

"Me, too," Bill said with a grin. "Jeepers, Helen, there goes a pass!"

It was a wobbly, erratic heave from Peskin. A Benton man charged in to bat it aside, but with a desperate lunge the West end grabbed it. He was knocked out of bounds on the Benton 25.

A deafening roar went up from the crowd. The band crashed forth in pagan triumph. Crimson-skirted cheerleaders spun around like dervishes, pounding the air with their fists, chanting, "We want a touchdown!"

"Oh, Bill!" Helen's eyes shone as she joined her voice to the pandemonium. She danced up and down, grabbed Bill impulsively and kissed him. "Bill, Bill, they're going to do it!"

"Gee . . ." Bill stared at Helen, touching his fingers to his lips. "You . . . kissed me."

"Oh . . ." Helen's cheeks flamed. "I didn't mean to, Bill. Honestly. I—I was excited and . . ."

Her voice was lost in wild cheering as Hart, West's fullback, bucked the line for five. The timekeeper signaled three minutes to play. The Benton boys looked tired. Straight, hard smashes would do it, Bill thought, trembling.

"Drive!" he prayed.

The mild fall wind struck icily across his hot forehead. He could almost feel the hard, taut leather in his big hands. If he could only be down there now, carrying the ball, or even running interference. Throwing himself into a sweet roll block, clearing the way for a West man to score. Boy!

The Benton line held. It was last down with three to go. Landis replaced Peskin with Calvert. Hart took the pass from center, faked a thrust at the line and gave the ball to Calvert, who flipped it backward to the left halfback. Instead of racing to the right for a clear shot at the end, the halfback hurried the pass away and it went straight into the hands of a Benton man.

A low moan swept the stands. The band was silent, the cheerleader wilted and mute. Boos were heard as Benton froze to the ball for three plays, then punted out of danger. A moment later the timekeeper's pistol exploded.

AS Bill and Helen pushed slowly through the disconsolate crowd they recognized Pat Hurly, sports editor of the Daily Clarion, and heard him grumble, "That wouldn't have happened if Buck Mentor'd been coaching. What a time for razzle-dazzle!"

Wheeling his bicycle, Bill walked by Helen's side in silence. He thought of his father, sitting alone by the radio, and it made him unhappy. Why, Buck had forgotten more football than Coach Landis ever knew!

Helen said shyly, "I'm sorry, Bill."

"About the game?"

She shook her head, blushing. "About what I did . . ."

"Gee, why, Helen? I—I li—I mean I didn't mind."

Embarrassed, they said no more until they reached home. Bill hesitated at the Welchs' front porch. "Well, goodnight."

"Goodnight, Bill."

He started across the yard to his house, then stopped. "Helen . . ."

"Yes, Bill?"

He fumbled for words. "Maybe . . . well, I hadn't ought to say this, but I'm kinda low tonight. Would you want to—to . . ."

Helen's feet pattered down the steps. Her lips brushed his tense young mouth. "Was that what you wanted, Bill?" she asked softly.

Before Bill could reply she was gone. He turned thoughtfully homeward.

BUCK MENTOR sat in his invalid chair by the radio. On the table was his football notebook. A smile touched his gray eyes as he greeted his son.

"Tough one, huh, fellow?"

"Plenty," Bill agreed. "Buck, what do you think?"

Buck Mentor hunched big shoulders that seemed cramped by the invalid's chair, considered the question. Like Bill's, his hair was tar-black and cut crew fashion. His face was youthful, charged with suppressed energy. Only the shadowed, deep-set eyes told of his brooding. He was "Buck" to everyone, young or old.

"Bill, are you asking me to second-guess?"

"You can tell me, Buck."

He nodded, thumbing the bowl of his pipe. "Look, Bill, somebody used bad judgment tonight."

"Coach?"

Buck shrugged. "If he ordered that play . . . which I doubt. That was a big-time razzle-dazzle. With plenty of practice a high school team might click it off, but . . ."

"That's what I thought."

"Bill, I wouldn't say this to another human soul. It would sound pretty bad coming from a man who was refused the job of coaching West. But if that play had gone off, the whole west side would be raving about Landis tonight."

Bill frowned. "You mean he was grandstanding?"

"It's possible. But remember, the Benton line had held once and might again. Landis or Calvert merely chose the spectacular rather than the sound way of trying for those yards."

* * *

"BUCK, I heard Pat Hurly say we'd have won if you'd been coaching."

"Or, if you'd been calling the plays," Buck said softly. "Football needs boys like you, Bill. You've got the body and brains."

"Who taught me what I know?" Bill exploded. "And just let Landis boot a few more games . . ."

Buck dropped his hand to his son's shoulder. "We're not after another man's job, Bill."

"But, Buck, didn't the board say they might consider you?"

"Yes . . . Yes, they did." Eager glints jumped into Buck Mentor's eyes. "And I'd give my soul to tackle the job, Bill."

• Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. When you telephone a private number and a servant asks who is speaking, should you say "Ruth Brown" or "Miss Brown?"

2. Should you say "I'm sorry when you get a wrong number or hang up without saying anything?

3. If you call on friends stopping at a hotel, should you telephone from the lobby before going up to their room?

4. Is "Pardon' or "I beg your pardon" correct?

5. Is it better to answer a business telephone with "Hello" or the name of the firm?

What would you do if—

A guest makes a long distance call on your telephone and hands you the money for it—

(a) Feel that hospitality prevents your accepting it?

(b) Take it?

Answers

1. Miss Brown. Or Mr. Brown —rather than Bob Brown.

2. Say, "I'm sorry."

3. Yes.

4. "I beg your pardon."

5. With the name of the firm.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b). Guests are supposed to pay for their long distance telephone calls.

Nazis Rule Europe's "River of Destiny"

THE Danube river, pictured on the Rumanian stamp above, one of a recent Boy Scout semi-postal series—is German again, for the first time since 1918. This is Hitler's life-line, and up it must come the supplies necessary to continue the war. Only Soviet Russia is in a position to contest Nazi rule of this important waterway.

Control of the Danube and its valuable river commerce is a rich prize for Germany. Grain, minerals, coal and oil will be transported into Germany by Danubian barges. The Danube valley is the "breadbasket" of central Europe.

The 1750-mile long river serves the people of six nations—Germany, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Rumania and Bessarabia, reclaimed by Russia. Three of Europe's most important cities—Vienna, Budapest, and Belgrade—are situated on its banks.

Hitler has already absorbed Austria and Czechoslovakia, both Danubian states. Control of the river may open the way for further expansion eastward.

The oldest era in geological history is the Archeozoic Era. Rocks dating back to that era yield no fossils.

Wheat To Highest Mark Since May

CHICAGO, Nov. 9—(AP)—Board markers chalked the highest prices since last May above the Chicago wheat pit today, with December quoted up to 88¾ cents, as the market continued its advance which began Thursday.

Although buying was not on as broad a sscale as on Thursday and Friday, the market showed good underlying strength, with some of the support coming from milling and baking interests. Strength in securities, the domestic industrial picture and carryover talk about inflation added to bullishness, offset by profit taking, evening up for the double holiday and selling based on reports that "free" wheat sales had increased.

At the high point after midsession wheat gains were ⅝ to 1 cent. At one time prices dipped ⅛ to ⅝ below the previous close but final figures were ¼ to ⅞ higher than yesterday, December 88⅝ to 88½. May 87½ to 87⅜. Corn was ¼ lower to ½ higher, December 62¼ to 62⅜, May 63⅝ to 63¾; oats ¼ to ⅜ up; soybeans 1¾ to 2¼ higher; rye ⅝ to ⅞ up and lard unchanged to 3 higher.

Minneapolis reports indicated that milling interests were covering flour sales there and messages from the southwest of better flour demand the past two days but business was by no means on a large scale.

Stocks Further Advance Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—(AP)—Steels and coppers today led the stock market in the best Saturday rally since September last year, with favorites pushing up 1 to 3 points at new highs for 1940 in a number of instances.

The bulge came as a surprise to brokerage quarters inasmuch as weekend evening-up operations have been the rule for months past. For a short session dealings also were the fastest since last May, the ticker tape falling behind as much as three minutes for a while.

Wall Street diagnosticians attributed the run-up partly to a revival of hopes for continuance of the broad business upswing as government defense spending reaches historical heights, the growing feeling that mounting earnings may more than offset taxes, and lessening of fears regarding outcome of the European war.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .5 of a point at 46.6 and on the week showed a net gain of .7. A month ago the composite stood at 44 and a year ago at 51.5.

Transfers amounted to 1,099,290 shares, a top two-hour volume since May 18, when stocks were thrown overboard in the wake of Germany's march on France. Last Saturday's total was 466,860 shares. On the week some 7,000,000 shares changed hands compared with around 4,000,000 the week before.

Issues hitting new 1940 tops included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Crucible Steel. Other prominent climbers were Youngstown Sheet, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, N. Y. Shipbuilding, Electric Boat and American-Hawaiian Steamship.

Utilities, rubbers, rails, oils and merchandising generally restricted advances to fractions.

U. S. Government securities again made new record highs and corporate bonds tilted forward. Commodities trailed along with other markets. Wheat at Chicago was up ¼ to ⅞ of a cent a bushel and corn ⅛ off to ⅛ ahead. Cotton added 25 to 40 cents a bale.

Miss Florence Knorp Bride Of J. O. Garrett

Mrs. Alex Cain Dies At Daughter's Home Wednesday

(By Mrs. J. E. Zey)

Mrs. Alex Cain, 67 years old, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Earl Dunham Wednesday, November 6. Mrs. Cain came from her farm home, where she had spent her entire life, after the death of her husband last March, to live with her daughter. Delila Cunningham was born August 10, 1873. She was married March 4, 1896 to Alex Cain. They were the parents of two children, a son who died in infancy, and the daughter, Mrs. Dunham. She is also survived by one granddaughter, Miss Marjorie Dunham and one sister, Mrs. John Melton. Funeral services were held at Flag Spring Baptist church Friday afternoon by Rev. N. E. Williams. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Miss Florence Knorp and J. O. Garrett were married Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Lutheran church, by Rev. W. H. Schwab. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fischer. Mr. and Mrs. Garrett left immediately after the wedding for a short wedding trip to Trenton, Mo. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fischer and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Murrell. Mrs. Garrett has worked at the Farmers Exchange for the past ten years. Mr. Garrett is employed at the tiff mines near Lupus, Mo. The couple were honored with a shower at the home of the bride Wednesday night. They will live in an apartment at her mother's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Hamlin and Mrs. Harold Hamlin and baby visited in Clarksburg, Mo., last Sunday.

Aircraft Factories Form Front Line In Anglo-Nazi Sky Supremacy Battle

• On production rate of their aircraft factories, the belligerents stake their chances of victory.

By PAUL MANNING
NEA London Correspondent

LONDON.—Aircraft production still remains the key to success in this Battle of Britain. That is currently the candid opinion of the London Sunday Dispatch:

"If Britain's aircraft production falls below its maximum possible output, there can be little hope for victory. Planes are the complete key to this war and upon their production depends the future."

The outlook for achievement of this maximum output and eventual parity in plane production with Germany does not look too bright at the moment. Output in one airplane factory of 1,500 workers has dropped to a new low because air raids have driven night-shift workers to the shelters.

Recently, during one week, 80,000 working hours were lost by a night shift reluctant to continue work during a raid in their 95 per cent plate glass factory. The result was a series of nine-hour periods spent in air raid shelters. According to several workers and managers, this situation is occurring in more than one factory.

Nazis Far Ahead When War Began

Even if this slow-down is only temporary, it is doubtful whether numerical equality with Germany will be achieved for a long time to come. On the basis of cold figures the enormous head start gained by Germany prior to August, 1940, still remains great.

No actual figures, only percentages, have been released by Britain's Ministry of Aircraft Production during the past year stating her airplane output.

It is known that Germany's aim was to have an air strength of 8,200 front-line machines when she clashed with Britain, and behind these a reserve of 100 per cent. If this goal was reached she would then have had 16,400 planes with a chain of factories ready to replace losses and turn out reserves.

This 16,400 figure may not have been reached by September, 1939, but it was certainly achieved during the six months of quiet along the Western Front.

Germans Lose 6,500 Planes

If 16,400 were manufactured by September, 1939, and a minimum of 900 machines added each month through December, the German air arm would have begun 1940 with at least 20,000 apart from losses and normal training crackups.

From January to May, when she started her shattering march across the low countries, another 5,000—at the rate of 1,800 a month—would have been produced. Add a further 5,400 for June, July and August of 1940 to make a total of 30,400 since the Luftwaffe was first formed in 1933.

This figure optimistically assumes the Nazis fulfilled all prewar timetables of deliveries, overcame the normal bottlenecks of engine production and suffered not the loss of a single man-hour from R. A. F. raids up through August.

As for losses, 6,500 is one near-official total of German airplanes shot down in campaigns to date. These figure as follows:

In the Polish campaign, 500; in Norway, Holland and Belgium, 600; by the French Air Force, 1,000; by the R. A. F. in France and over England, 4,000; miscellaneous losses, 400.

These 23,900 airplanes which can conceivably be mustered, indicates that Germany at the start of her aerial blitz of four weeks ago was at least as strong numerically as in September, 1939.

U. S. Planes Aid Britain

During the past four weeks Germany's aircraft production, like Britain's has suffered from intensive night raids. Yet because she possesses such a bulge in planes already produced, the night bombing now taking place is not quite the serious problem it is to England.

American airplanes which England is beginning to receive in greater quantities will help Britain immeasureably.

In spite of Lord Beaverbrook's statement that the flow of airplanes from the U. S. gives renewed confidence, this flow will not be more than a trickle until spring. By that time Germany may well have the French aircraft industry reorganized and able to produce 200 a month to partly offset the advantage of American planes.

Pilots of the Royal Air Force are the ray of light in this gloomy picture. They have generally proven far superior to the German airmen.

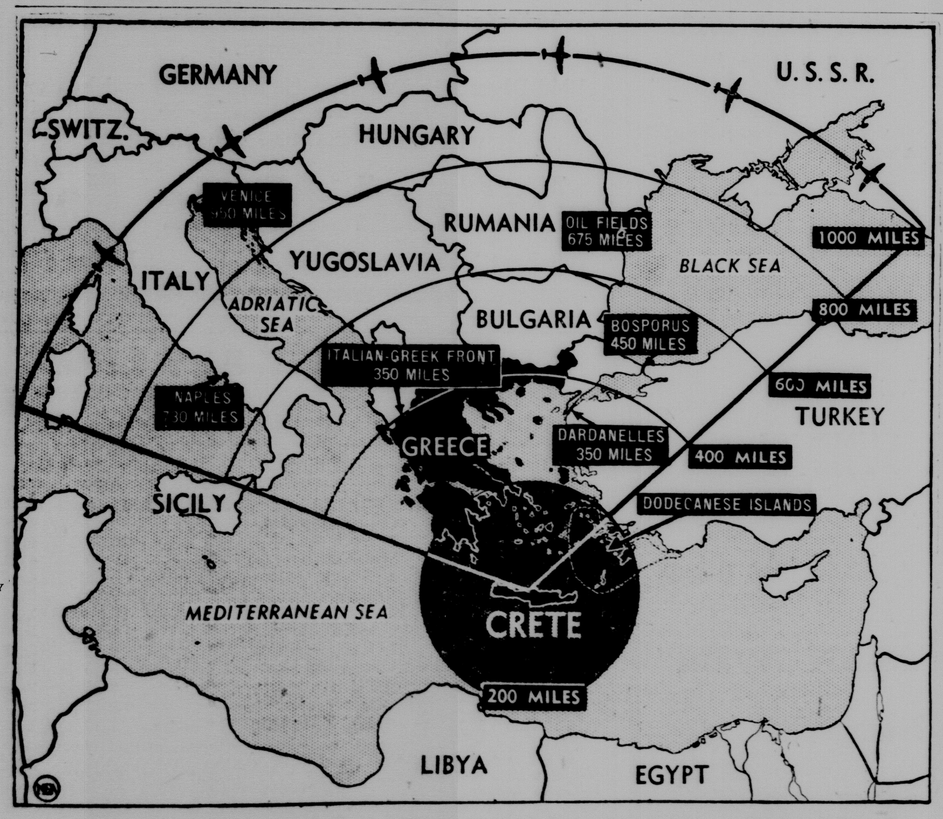

But if they fail to smash the German aircraft industry before deep winter sets in, England by April must face the fact that—though her own output will have increased—12,000 new planes will be added to the Luftwaffe.

TIPTON

Mrs. F. Turpin Passes Away On Thursday

Church And Other Societies In Meetings The Past Week

(By Mrs. A. R. Snorgrass)

Mrs. F. F. Turpin, who with Mr. Turpin returned to Tipton some three months ago to live, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Delmar Ferguson, on Thursday night. Short funeral services were held for her at the home Friday afternoon by Rev. A. L. Browning and the remains were taken to Memphis, Tenn., accompanied by a son, John Turpin, where funeral services will be held and interment made.

Mrs. Turpin was 74 years old. She was born in Moniteau county and was Miss Martha Jane Porter before her marriage.

She was the mother of ten children, nine of whom, with the father, are living, four of them in Tipton, Mrs. Ferguson, John and Dee Turpin and Mrs. Frank Ferguson. Five her sons and daughters reside in and near Memphis.

Mrs. Turpin was a member of the Baptist church from early girlhood.

The ladies of the Christian church were received Thursday afternoon in the home of their president, Mrs. A. F. Martin, with Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Walter Cook, Mrs. Joe Tucker as hostesses. Mrs. Clara Woods as program leader and Mrs. Walter Cook as devotional leader were assisted in talks by Mesdames Freeman and Ray White, Mrs. Martin reading a poem. Armistice and Thanksgiving days were featured. Guests were Mrs. A. A. Bunceton and Mrs. Don Robertson and little daughter of Orlando, Fla. A dessert lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Glasgow and Paul Glasgow attended a birthday dinner honoring and surprising Mrs. Glasgow's brother, Earl Palmer, of near Smithton, on Sunday.

Miss Nancy Mildred Stark of Jefferson City, is spending from Friday until Monday evening with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Snorgrass.

A. F. Martin left Friday for a business trip to St. Louis and eastern points.

Mesdames James Chamberlain and daughter, William P. McVean were pleasing hostesses to the Woman's Society for Christian Service on Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Miss Lily John leading the program on "Our Heritage. Talks on this were made and a lovely Thanksgiving talk by Mrs. V. N. Pizer. A voice solo was given by Mrs. S. R. Ferguson. A business session completed several plans. The hostesses served a plate lunch. Added guests were Mesdames W. A. McVean and Charles Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Finley and John Albin motored to north Missouri on a business trip Thursday.

Mrs. Nora Lane was a visitor in Jefferson City Friday.

Mrs. Thomas Briscoe, who has been a patient in the Boonville hospital, recovering from an operation, will be brought to her home, just north of Tipton, Saturday.

Miss Naomi Armstrong, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charlie Johnson and Mr. Johnson, has returned to her home in Lockwood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Conn have as their guest, their daughter, Mrs. W. H. Null, of Princeton, Mo.

Mrs. John Gordon of Long Island, N. Y., who was called to Missouri by the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Witten, of Versailles and has since been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. D. C. Hardy and Mr. Hardy, left Friday for her home. Mr. and Mrs. Hardy have as guests Saturday and Sunday their children, Mr. and Mrs. David Hardy, of Kansas City and Miss Virginia Hardy of Springfield, who has been attending the teachers' meeting in Kansas City

Mrs. S. R. Ferguson is assisting in a series of revival meetings at the Methodist church in California as music director and soloist.

The faculty of the high and grade schools of Tipton attending the state meeting in Kansas City are Superintendent and Mrs. G. L. Donohoe, L. W. Billingsley, Misses Casper, Muldrow, Carpenter, Bahrenberg, McVean and Wear. School will reconvene on Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Shuppert, and two children of Okmulgee, Okla., are in residence in the Joseph Koechner apartments. Mr. Shuppert is the recently appointed manager of the Tipton theater.

Al White was in Tipton the last of the week, the guest of relatives and friends, en route to Washington, D. C., on a business trip, from Springfield, Colo., where he teaches.

About Lightning

Lightning does not follow drafts unless the air stream is filled with smoke or vapor, in which case it would form a better conductor of electricity than the surrounding air.
